Think Chinese -- what comes to mind? Italian? Greek? Mexican? Pot stickers, pizza, baklava, enchiladas . . . We love food -- its tastes, smells and especially its association with friends, family and love.

Part of food's allure comes from its relation to all five senses: it smells good; it tastes wonderful; it feels warm; it sounds crunchy; it looks creamy. And the more variety you put into the food, the more interesting it gets. Mix a little of this, a little of that and voila! a feast.

Like an endless banquet, Alameda High is a smorgasbord of many different cultures and people. History teacher Mr. Manno refers to this as a "potluck" because each person brings a little part of his or her own background, then shares it out to collectively form the Alameda community.

In addition to our home cultures, the clubs we join, the classes we take and the sports we play give each student a unique flavor. Then, like the hornet on the previous page, these activities introduce us to different people. We cross-pollinate, producing a very sweet way of living. The campus is unique and feels like our own.

So here we present you with your very own Alameda High Cookbook. Retaste your high school experiences as you look back on all your memories from 2007-2008.

Enjoy and Bon Appétit!

The people of Alameda High are unique, as unique as France's famed 400 different types of cheese. Some cheeses, such as camembert, are served before the main course because they are young and not yet full-flavored - much like the underclassmen. As cheese ages, it matures. Strong and full-bodied cheeses, like Emmental de Savoie, are like the upperclassmen: while strong and hearty, it still has holes in it. Of course, each of the 400 types of cheese is just a catagory, and individual cheeses vary, depending on the farm from which they come. Our Alameda students are equally rich in variety; one Freshman is not like another, and no two Juniors are alike. AHS's 1600 various 9th-11th graders -- like France's 400 cheeses -- are just the beginning!

'oh nine Juniors

2 tsp. of anxiety
1 1/2 cups of pride
2 cups of stress
1 tsp. of disdain towards underclassmen
1/2 cup of sleep deprivation
3 tsp. of impatience
2 cups of experience
4 tsp. of green food coloring

Junior Year, considered to be the most stressful year of high school, combines fragments of sleep-deprivation, SAT prep, mountains of homework, social lives and many more entangling elements. This pivotal year determines most kids' futures, amounting to high stress levels and anxiety. Though Junior year has its disadvantages, it also can be construed as one of the most enjoyable years. With a fair amount of superiority in the school, Juniors have both the knowledge of the school and the right to penny Freshmen. With school pride, the Juniors wear green and scream their lungs out at homecoming assemblies. Having lockers in better areas and being two feet taller than most others in the hallways are two more privileges to being a Junior. For Juniors, be sure to mix until tired of school and cook under pressure.

ten Sophomores

1/2 cup of determination

1/3 cup of confidence

3/4 cup of hard work

1 cup of success

4 tsp. of orange food coloring

Last year, we were at the bottom of the chain. Wearing confused looks on our faces, we walked around in circles, and constantly got teased by the upperclassmen; we were helpless. However, this year those confused looks are gone and our confidence has risen. Now, we can walk through the hallways of Alameda High with pride and fewer chances of getting pushed around. Although we faced stressful and difficult situations, we've developed into respectful, young adults. . . With a long way to go. For Sophomores put in a warm plate, and let rise until ready to bake.

eleven Freshmen

1 part happiness
1 cup annoyance
2 pints fear of upperclassmen
5 pinches of intimidation
2 cups of confusion
5 tablespoons of giggles
1 teaspoon of anger
20 pieces of procrastination
4 teaspoons gray food coloring

As Freshmen, we embark on our high school journey, the experience we gain will benefit us in the future. Mistakes make us stronger, establishing a better foundation for coping with life's challenges and obstacles. With mutual support and advice from others, Freshmen concoct a recipe with the different emotions they go through their first year of high school. Although we hold a great amount of fear of upperclassmen, they inspire us to be true to ourselves and institute a common ground for others to follow. For Freshmen beat gently and cook at a constant temperature.

Q: What is your favorite food from your culture?

A: "Umm ...Spaghetti!" Michelle Jacobsen pondered. Spaghetti existed ever since the beginning of the Roman Empire. There are over 100 varities of ingredients used, but all of them are equally tasty.

A: "Momo!" Sailaja (Sristi) Chhetri was quick to answer. This South Indian delicacy is referred by Americans as steamed dumplings. It is generally eaten with meat, vegetable, and tomato achar.

A: "Mantu," proclaimed Ahmad Shaghasi. Mantu is an Afghan cuisine served in a sumptuous arrangement of layers of the wrapped meat and special yogurt sauce, and it is scattered with fresh mint leaves plus a little mince lamb to garnish.

Only a certain type of person can be a truly effective teacher. Those who choose to pursue this career know what they are getting into: sloppy students that are full of complaints. But with that, there are always other students who try their hardest and thrive; it is this that makes them realize why they became teachers in the first place. They know that affecting even only one student will make a difference to society and the world.

"What should I sign up for? Best Buddies? French? Culinary?" You may have asked yourself these questions at the beginning of the school year. Signing up for a club during Club Day is just like being at a salad bar- there are just too many choices! From academic to cultural clubs, AHS offers over 50 choices for its students. Like tossing a salad, people are mixed together in a healthy way. Clubs allow students of different backgrounds and grade levels to interact with one another over similar interests. The choices of salads are endless: like Chinese chicken salad? Try the Chinese Living in America club; for a taco salad, join Latinos Unidos. The blend of different flavors and textures adds to the fun and tastiness of Alameda High School's diverse culture.

bread dishes

Why do our coaches encourage us to load up on carbs before a big game? The answer: glycogen packing. That slice of toast we ate for breakfast is stored in our muscles and liver, ready to provide the extra energy needed to win a race or ace our serve. To many of us, athletics are an important part of a balanced diet. The Ancient Greeks strove for mens sana in corpore sana [Latin], a sound mind in a sound body, embodying the notion that balance between these two spheres enhances both. Athletics proved to be a gernerous energy source this year: during the 2007-2008 season, Alameda High seized over six league titles and many of our athletes went on to compete at the North Coast Sectionals. Whether we're playing on the field or cheering from the sidelines, AHS athletics are the bread of our lives.

Left: Freshman Tyler Parsons sprints with determination at the Farmer Invitational. "I was nervous at first, but running the 2-mile turned out to be fun," Parsons recalls of his first cross-country meet. "I love participating in a sport that is so self-motivating," he adds.

Varsity juniors Trevor Araujo and Alex Colvin swiftly race ahead to the finish line, leaving all of their competitors as well as their teammates in the dust of the meet.

Cross Country

JV and Varsity

The boys stratigize and get pumped with a pep talk with each other before they stretch, warm up, and get focused on winning the meet.

Our cross country women get extremely psyched as they approach their turn to race against the other schools, and beat them without breaking a sweat.

As the girls of the Alameda cross country team near the finish line, they push themselves to gain speed and energy as the feeling of accomplishment sweeps over them at the final turn of the race. The thought of a well deserved water break also helps push them to complete their race.

Jain Thapa, JV • '08
Jain Thapa sprints to the finish for a job well done from his teammates.

Maddy Kuttner, JV •'09
Even though Maddy Kuttner seems tired, she still manages to find a boost of energy to get through the race.

Aaron Soo-Hoo, JV • '10
Hard worker, Aaron Soo-Hoo, always pushes himself when it comes to running, especially when it comes to meets.

Gabby Bobarnac, Var• '08
As Gabby Bobarnac cruises along the beautiful track, it gives her a positive energy to keep going further.

Zach Perkins, JV • '10
Sophomore Zach Perkins has a knack for cross country.

What do you like most about cross country?

I hate cross country practice, but I love the meets. It is a good outlet for my stress. I like to push myself to test my limits to see how far I can go.

-Will Boscacci, JV, '09

I got into cross country not only because I love to run, but it relieves my stress and gives me a clear mind.

-Noel Arevalo, JV, '10

I hate cross country and don't really like to run but I do it to get in shape for soccer.

-K. Valenzuela, JV, '08

As the boys' cross country team eagerly awaits the start of the race, they prepare to make a quick start to give themselves an early lead.

As the cross country girls' team follows through the race, they try to pace themselves because it is arduous and intense.

As these highly driven boys speed past their competitors, they hardly break a sweat so they still look good for the win.

Sophomore Timothy Watanabe, JV, goes for an interception while Sophomore Marcos Medina, JV, goes to tackle the opponent's wide receiver. Watanabe and Medina are both talented blockers who do their jobs well.

Freshman Tuan Vo, Frosh, receives a hand off as he boosts down the sideline, dodging the opposing team. He sweeps his arm backwards in order to defend himself. As tail back, he has rushed a lot of yards and carried many touchdowns.

Freshman Tom Ruckman, Frosh, looks for an open receiver while the offensive linemen hold their opponents off of him, allowing him time to get a good glance of his surroundings.

Junior Matt Jones and Sophomores Jeremy Yu and Yonatan Tesfay JV, eagerly wait to meet their opponent's captains, as the referees join them.

Who do you look up to in the NFL and why?

Chad Johnson, #85, from the Cincinnati Bengals is who I admire from the NFL. He talks a lot of mess, but he backs up for it. Overall, he is a great player."

-Frosh, William Lyons

"Peyton Manning, #18, on the Indianapolis Colts I believe he is one of the best quarter backs in the NFL. He really connects with his wide receivers and has a great team bond."

-JV, Andrew Wu, 10th

"In the NFL, I look up to LaDainian Tomlinson, #21, San Diego Chargers. He plays running back just like me, also he is a hard worker in and outside of the game."

-Var, Weston Moyer, 12th

Var, Antonio Garcia, 11th

JV, Luke Morbitz, 10th

"The game of life is a lot like football. You tackle your problems, block your fears, and score your points when you get the opportunity."

Frosh, Randy Chahine, 9th

Up against one of Alameda's biggest rivals, Senior Niko Aumua, Var, receives a pass from quarterback Weston Moyer, and manages to gain a few yards before he is taken down.

Football

Frosh, JV and Varsity

Joie Fong, '08, has been playing ever since she was ten years old, after her father introduced her to it. Fong likes to play on the school team because of what she calls the "support system." She likes knowing that her team has her back while playing.

Women's Tennis

For Michelle Loo and Sarah Courtland, '10, Shirley Tang, '09, and Audrey Yeung, '11, tennis is their passion. They enjoy playing such an intense sport with each other and stick together even during tough times.

All hyped up after their team victory in Fresno, the women puts their hands in to celebrate their win and to congratulate the opposing team. Because of all their practice, their hard work paid off. The team hopes to beat Fresno next year too.

Michelle Loo, '10, and Samantha and Victoria Kam, '08, support and c on their teammates through thick and t hoping that it will make them less ner They know the same encouragement wi given back to them in the future.

1. Kathy Hua, '09, has been playing since she was little. Hua loves playing on a team that motivates her and hopes to learn to slice the ball.
2. Sarah Courtland, '10, has been playing varsity for two years and hopes to continue playing next year.
3. Lauren Yeung, '08, is the co-captain and has been on the team all four years. She says, "this year has been a success and I'm really proud of them."

Esther Park, '08, normally plays doubles; playing with another person helps her to not get nervous. "We loosen each other up." Park believes it helps not to get too competitive and focus on the positive. She says "I play for fun and not focus on the bad."

Sophia Shin, '09, was first forced to play tennis by her parents but then she began to enjoy it. Now Shin has been playing for three years and is dedicated to improving her techniques like volleys. She enjoys playing and hopes to continue to be on such a supportive team.

Stephanie Taylor, '08, has only been playing for one year and has successfully made it onto Varsity. She owes it to her friends because they got her started. Taylor finds the sport fun and doesn't find pressure in playing even though she is new to the sport.

Audrey Yeung, '11, works hard to improve and to show her father how far she has come in three years. Yeung's father got her started in playing. Now, she has learned a few things on her own, like if she stays calm and focused, she will be successful.

How do you balance school and tennis?

I sacrifice sleep, but it's worth it because I am part of a team and I have to be a team player. Sometimes, I bring my homework to the courts and do it there.

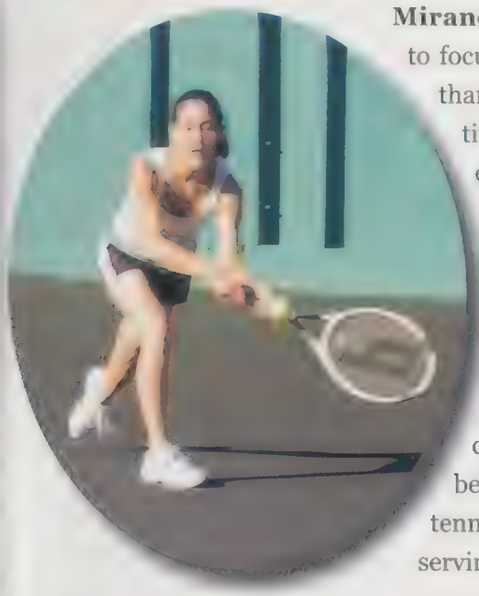
Victoria Kam, '08

I don't find pressure in juggling school and tennis. For me, tennis is a stress-reliever and I find it relaxing from the burden of homework.

Kathy Hua, '09

I have good time management. I set a certain time for tennis and a different time for school. I guess it's easy when you get the hang of it.

Samantha Ho, '08



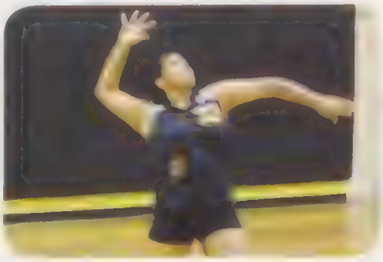
Miranda Cohen, '09, tries to focus on the game rather than get too competitive. Cohen's friends encouraged her to play and she has been playing for roughly four years now. She tries to clear her mind when playing, which helps her concentrate and play better. Cohen's goals for tennis are to improve her serving and her forehand.

Shirley Tang, '09, was inspired by her father to play tennis. She believes that by being competitive and aggressive, you can do well. This is her sixth year playing tennis and she has learned different methods to cope with pressure. "I sing, talk to myself, or just do random things." She hopes by the end of the season she will advance her tennis skills.

Senior Christina Clark keeps her eye on the ball as she serves it into the court. As a Varsity player, her serves have been known to have a nasty topspin, meaning that the ball sails over the net before dropping dramatically.

Sophomore Lauren Choy serves the ball underhand into the court to jump start the game. She has played on the Alameda Junior Varsity team for two years during her Freshman and Sophomore year.

Freshman Valerie Fong stays alert during the home game against Hercules. She works hard as a back row passer for the Varsity troop. She is one of the two Freshmen who made Varsity this year.



Samantha Alemania, Senior specializes in serving for the Varsity squad. She has been dishing out hard serves to opposing teams since her Freshman year.

The Alameda High School Varsity volleyball team listens to new head coach, Steve McAdam, as he plans out the line-up for the next match.

Women's Volleyball

Junior Alejandra Coello, Sophomore Ashley Hom, and Junior Allyson Santa-Maria wait patiently for their turn to play in the El Cerrito home game. This is Alejandra's first time playing volleyball for Alameda High School. Ashley is a setter and Allyson hits outside for the JV squad.

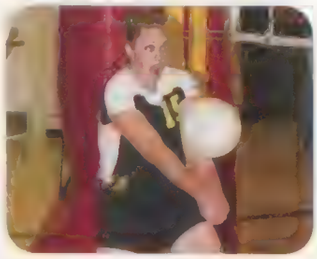
Junior Danielle Carmon plays the middle blocker position for the JV team. She bumps the ball to her teammates in order to make a play during the home game against El Cerrito.



Nadya Machrus, Freshman, bumps the ball across the net for the third touch and prepares for the return hit from the other team. She takes part as a front row hitter on the JV team.

Sophomore Sydnie Hernandez concentrates on giving a good pass to her other JV teammates. This is her second year on JV and she has been a tremendous asset to the team. She takes on the role as a outsider hitter.

Junior Arianne Guzman is an outside hitter for the JV team. She bumps the ball to her teammates, concentrating on hitting her target setter. After the ball has reached the setter, she can prepare to slam the ball over the net. This is Arianne's first year playing for the Alameda High School volleyball team.

Sophomore Anna Varghese keeps her eye on the ball in order make a successful pass while Senior Marvaleen Wight waits her turn for a pass.

Junior Kristyna Smith plays the positions of middle-hitter and middle blocker for the Varsity line-up. She has been playing for Alameda High since her Freshman year and took part in the Varsity team as a Sophomore.

Sophomore Jennifer Kam and Freshman Brittney Platt listen intently to Coach Steve McAdam during a time-out as he gives some advice to the Varsity girls.

What is your pre-game ritual?

My pre-game ritual is going to Tapioca Express with my teammates, Ling-Ling and TB.

-Allison Dea, '08

In the morning, the music in my car has to pump me up. Then, at lunch I have to eat Kobe-ya. Right before the game, I have to get in to the zone. I stare the competition down.

-Nicole Lopez, '08

Since I don't have a 6th period, I hang out with my teammates Christina, Nicole, and Samantha. Before the game, I stretch and think about my personal goals for the game.

-Nergiss Shagasi, '08

On the left, Shannon Barry plays her first year as goalie on the Varsity team. Shannon, Junior, is a great defensive goalie, and has blocked her rivals' shots from scoring. "When i first started playing it was nerve racking and here is some advice don't flinch."

To the right, Freshman Katie Marshall is warming up by throwing the ball to her partner and then catching it when her partner throws it back. "Warming up increases my game."

1.) Senior Katrina Turman goal. "My first goal was freshman year on JV i think it was an accident to. It was the most memorable moment of my freshman year. That is why I love playing water polo: all of my teammates encourage me. i thought i was really bad but everyone keep encouraging me that i wasn't has bed as i thought i was."

2.) Senior Francesca Sentos is deciding whether to score or to pass to a teammate. "When i first transfered to alameda my sophomore year I started playing on Varsity for my first time. And that is also when Coach Bret been coaching for alameda high. It is very welcoming and it makes me more confident."

3.) Senior Christina Leung warms up with a nice strong throw to the goalie. She has worked her way from JV all the way to Varsity in just for three years. "It made me feel good about making it to Varsity because I feel like that is a big step up."

Sophomore Koki Inlow plays efficient offense by swimming faster than the defense which is trying to block her. " Playing on Varsity was such a dream of mine since forever," she says.

Varsity player, Sophomore Rebecca Pan, stalls and waits to see if one of her teammates is wide open to make a goal. "Some of the teams we challenge are very aggressive pulling our bathing suits and dragging us under."

What was your most memorable moment?

line was in the ontra Costa col- ege tournament. Our eam beat Concord ive to four, but in the egging of the season we lost to Concord.

-Jessica Pan `08

My most memorable moment was freshman year playing on Varsity for the first time and being a starter in our first game.

-Marlena Nip `10

My most memorable moment in water polo was when I made my first goal during my first Varsity game.

-Cynthia Hughes`11

Left: JV/Varsity player, Freshmen Kelly Arth defends against her opponent by elbowing her. "I didn't mean to elbow her in her face, it just tends to happen on accident." Middle: Junior Emma Ulrey catches the ball from her teammate, just waiting for the right time to pass it back to make the winning goal. "Water polo is so much fun, I am glad that I started playing this year." Right: Freshman Casey Huthison, JV/Varsity, warms up before she plays, making sure her arm is ready to play goalie "Playing my first year as goalie has been a fun experience," she says.

The Varsity team gathers around in the middle of half-time to discuss how to improve their game to win against their rival. They all throw their hands in to cheer each other on and to cheer the other team on also, because AHS has great sportsmanship.

Women's H2O Polo

Junior Andre Tom, Var, scans the waters for a fellow Hornet. This is his first year on Varsity and he looks foward to making an impact next year as well.

Sophomore Nick Olsen, Var, cocks back to launch a pass over two incoming defenders. Nick is one of four freshmen on Varsity this year.

During half time, Coach Marshall Dortch gives his team a pep talk. His Varsity team listens closely to its coach, determined to play a strong second half.

Junior goalkeeper Nick Winterbauer, uses his 6'3" frame to tower over a player from Bishop O'Dowd. He is one of the best players on Varsity and one of the best goalies in the ACCAL.

Junior Ryan Shum, Var, holds his head and the ball high above the water to keep the ball from the opposing team.

How has water polo influenced your everyday life?

Water polo has taught me how to manage my time better between school and other responsibilities that I have.

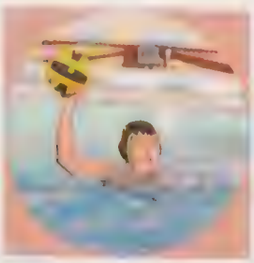
-Steven Tom '10

Water polo has pushed me to exercise on a regular basis and to be a lot more active. It has taught me about teamwork .

- Chris Daniel '10

Being on water po has taught me th value of hardwo and if you work ha it will all pay off the end.

-Bobby Chang 'c



The sun beams down into the eyes of Junior Michael Chen, JV. This is his third year playing water polo.

Junior Alec Osterdock, Var, searches for another teammate so he can make a pass to set up an Alameda goal.

The Varsity defense displays its teamwork by working together to help Junior , Nick Winterbauer, block the ball. By building a good defense, the team hopes to keep its opponents from scoring any points.

Freshman Vanessa Ambrosini dives to her fallen opponent for the ball so the rest of the JV team can advance up the court to gain points.

Sophomore Joanna Louie fakes one way and dribbles up the side line to escape her opponent. She is one of the JV's guards and plays it well. This is her second year with the basketball team.

Freshman Casey Hutchinson fiercely jumps up to grab the basketball, giving her team the upperhand and Freshman Kristina Lam waits for the pass to take down court for a shot.

Ananda Gebreyesus, '10, manuvers her way out of a trap to keep her opponents from gaining control of the ball. Although she is only a Sophomore, she has definitely proven herself as a key player on the Varsity team.

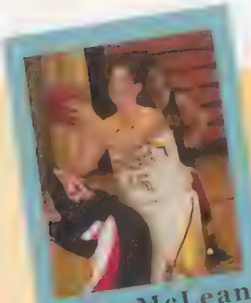
Sophomore Debbie Gee, Junior Victorya Warren, Senior Jennifer Sever, and Sophmore Kiyanna Grimes shake the cheerleaders hands while running on to the court to warmup before the big game.



Julia McLean, '11, focuses her eye on the basket, preparing to make a perfect shot.

Freshman Misti Williams, takes her chance to score with a lay-up.

Seniors Kiyanna Grimes and Allison Dea watch the JV girls' basketball game with Coach Thomas while they wait with the rest of the varsity team to play against Hercules High.

Sophomore Britney Walker wisely stretches with the rest of her varsity team to avoid any injuries during the game.

Angelica Rivera, '11, makes a quick move to steal the ball from her opponent. The JV team made a triumphant win with a score of 72-47 against Hercules High, continuing its winning streak.

How is a team important?

Being in a team helps you get along with others, and it also teaches you to support your teammates in tough situations.

-Kristina Lam, '11

A team is like your family. You do everything together as well as learning how to work with each other.

-Hilary Freeman, '10

As team captain, I believe a team provides leadership skills and teaches how to communicate and solve problems better

- Tiffany Smith, '08

1. Going right through the swat of his opponent's hand, Freshman Joe Chin jumps up into the air beneath the basket to receive a lay-up putting the team two points ahead.

2. Junior Wesley Edwards dribbles the ball around the block of his opponent to make a successful, yet powerful lay-up on him. "While going for a basket all I begin to think about is whether I will make it or not," Wesley says.

3. Freshman Brandon Woo makes a smooth pass to his teammate that is right beneath the basket so that he can make a lay-up to put them ahead in the game. "I like to play basketball because it allows me to meet new people from different cities, like when we go on trips," says Brandon.

4. The varsity team comes in for a time with the coach during a full time out. With sixty seconds to listen and get a play in, the team focuses on the concept and what needs to take place for them to make the play complete and victorious. When finished with time outs, the team works its way back on the court to now go head to head with its opponents.

5. Junior Zach Hodges wrestles and fights to win possesion of the ball. With his aggressivness and eagerness to get the ball, he does not let go, making Pinole's team work just as hard if not harder!

What motivates you to play basketball? Why?

"My teammates and coaches keep me motivated because they push me not only in practice and games but in school too. Also because it keeps me busy outside of school."

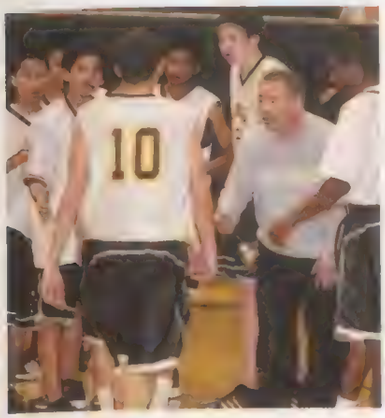
-T.Takahashi, Var, '10

"The will to go to the NBA and my passion for the game. I am a competitve person and like to win. My mom is a lot of my motivation as well."

- S.Johnson, JV, '10

"I am motivated by basketball because it gives me things to do and teaches me life lessons."

-J.Ruck, '11



The Freshman team comes in for a group huddle before starting the game. Coach Nakamura gives them some advice and direction on what play to make after the jump ball.

Junior Varsity begins its victory with a huddle of unity. As the team comes together to count down the last few seconds before the game starts they scream out "Go Hornets!"

Senior Tarin Ford goes to make a jump shot, overpowering his opponent Pinole High, to set his team ahead in a close, but great win (58-53).

Cheerleading

JV and Varsity

1.) Sophomore Rachel Marra, JV, smiles at the crowd while she spirits on to the field for the halftime show. 2.) Sophomore Shannon Skiles, JV, listens for the music to start so her well-practiced stunt group can put her up to a 'prep' level stunt. 3.) Sierra Calandri, JV, is the only Freshman on the squad this year. She is getting ready to dance to Michael Jackson's "Thriller". 4.) Before the football game, Brianna Lawrence, 10th, Vanessa Valerio, 11th, Carol Tam, 10th, and Erika Greenley, 10th huddle next to this year's new JV coach, Laura Lendman, 5th. To start off their halftime routine with a bang, the JV Hornet cheerleaders pull up their three man flyers into an extended level stunt before coming back down to a prep level.

TOP: Senior Jessica Louie of Varsity pulls off an amazing 'scorpian' stunt which involves extending her leg backwards with her foot right behind her head. This difficult stunt involves major flexibility. MIDDLE: Remember us! Silly Seniors of Varsity attempt to make a lasting impression on everyone. BOTTOM: Represent? Varsity Juniors deck themselves out in green while Varsity Seniors dominate with red baseball style shirts and knee socks to represent their grades for the homecoming game.

TOP: For Senior Varsity cheerleaders, Jessica Louie, Rachel Cortes, and Liana Choi, being put up well over their teammates' heads is no problem. All of them have been fliers for a squad since middle school. BOTTOM: The Varsity cheerleaders end their performance with two 'hitches' and two 'shoulder sits.'

What was the most memorable moment of cheer camp?

"At cheer camp, we enjoyed bonding with the whole squad; we spent many hours together which helped us become the squad we are now."

-Elaina Moe, Sara Kofman, Jennifer Silva, 12th

"We will never forget the flights of stairs we had to walk up and down at least six times a day after hours of intense pratices and learning new material."

- Carol Tam, 10th, and Megan Harper, 11th

"On the first day, our JV squad had gotten th spirit stick, it was reall exciting, especiall because it was my firs year going to an awa camp and accomplish ing so much."

-Sierra Calandri, 9

1.) Senior Lauren Freeman and Junior Stacey Lyons of Varsity practice their new dance routine, which involves partner moves that correspond to each other. 2.) After a final performance in front of everyone,including their parents, the Varsity team is all smiles. 3.) Waiting for other schools' teams to arrive, the Varsity and JV squads do not know what to expect for the next three days. 4.) The JV team says good-bye to their two silly camp instructors in the back from the previous three days. 5.) Sophomore Erika Greenley, JV, only has a few hours to perfect a routine she learned earlier to perform in front of the whole camp.

Varsity player Vannessa Watrous, Junior, jukes a Richmond player using her amazing speed and ball skills despite the bad weather and the horrible status of Thompson field.

Freshman Junior Varsity player Emily Basta defends an opposing Richmond player in order to regain possession of the ball once again. She knows that she must keep her eyes on the ball and not the player.

Junior Mariela Lopez-Garcia, Sophomore Alexandra Umeki, and Freshman Roxy Guzman defend their goal as a unit and hustle up-field when the ball is cleared out of the penalty box.

Freshman Varsity player Emily Quilici concentrates on trapping and passing the ball during warm-up. She wears a "headbanger" as the Varsity team calls them, to prevent head injuries when heading the ball.

The Varsity bench is all smiles as they watch their team succeed in beating the Richmond High Oilers. The team is very high spirited because their little team mascot DJ Cristos is joining them on the bench today along with their new enthusiastic Varsity coach Diane Quinn.

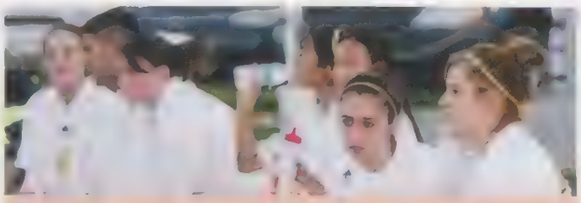
Top Left: Senior co-captain Efe Ogbeide aggressively controls the ball while a defender from the Richmond team tries to poke it away. Efe has amazing ball skills that have helped the Varsity squad gain ground in their quest to reach the North Coast Section Championships this year.



The JV team takes a quick water break during warm up, while a few Varsity under classmen observe.

Middle Top Left: Senior Bryce Marshall deflects a laser shot to the corner successfully. Bryce is the varsity team's only goalie this year and has been doing a outstanding job defending the goal.

Middle Bottom Right: Senior co-captain Emily Beylerian throws the ball far down the field for her team to progress closer towards the opposing goal. Emily has been playing soccer all four years, and has been a great asset to the team as a defender. Bottom Right: Varsity, '09, player Kristine Nakada has been one of the biggest positive influences to the Varsity team since her Freshman year. She is extremely fast and agile which comes as a great advantage when the offense is attacking the opposing goal.

The Varsity team listens in as Coach Diane Chann gives them the line-up for the game.

Freshman Emma Rose Williams takes charge by preparing to throw the ball to a teammate.

Freshman Arielle Siem dribbles down the field, hoping to score another goal for her team.

Junior Lauren Cabrales leaps into the air over a Richmond defender to head the ball towards the opposing goal.

1. Junior Mariela Lopez-Garcia skillfully shields the ball as an opponent tries to take it away.
2. Varsity Sophomore Hope Fletcher calls out for her teammate to pass her the ball.
3. Varsity Junior London Alfaro thinks about her goals for the game.
4. Freshman Megan Averitt drives the ball forward and looks for a teammate to pass to.

How do you feel about the new coaching staff?

I think the change in coaches will be interesting and it will be very intriguing to see how the team reacts.

-Kristyna Smith, '09

I really like her. I had her as my coach Freshman year and she helped me improve my soccer skills a lot.

-Stephanie Oliva, '09

It's a big change, but I feel like we can relate to her better because she's a girl and she's younger.

-Nicole Johnson, '08

Right: Ajaya Rana, Sophomore, Varsity, is the top goal scorer this season. His powerful shots are almost unstoppable. Soccer for him is not just a sport, but a lifestyle. Being one of the highest goal scorers on the team, he lives and breathes soccer, following in the footsteps of his older alumni brother.

Below: Being one of the smaller players on the JV team, Freshman Jack Barbour uses his quick passes and his precise handling to carve around the opposing players. Barbour wants to keep playing soccer for many years to come. " I always think of a way to score when I have the ball. and I always think about how to get around the next defe nder," Barbour exclaims.

1) Freshman Vinh Ha, JV, goes in with everything he has in order to take down the opposing player. Playing expert defense is one of the main goals on the Hornet squad. Some days the team practices nothing but defense for two and a half hours, but every day they commit at least one hour to defense.

2) Sophomore Liam Davis, Varsity, has proved that he is worthy of playing on the varsity team. His ball handling skills have done nothing but get better since the beginning of the season. He practices every chance he gets on controlling the ball which makes him a very threatening player.

3) One of the many Seniors on the Varsity team, Jason Hong, maneuvers around the opposing player. He cracked one of his ribs during a game and could not finish out the rest of the season. " I'm really angry, this is my Senior year and I only got to play three games "

4) Freshman, Hoshang Hatifie, is the only Freshman on the varsity team. "I had two brothers who were on varsity their Freshman years, and I feel like I'm continuing the legacy," says Hatifie play soccer to get better and to have fun with my friends. I like the pressure of the game situations. High school soccer is a whole different level."

What drives you to play soccer?

-Minjay Kay, '10

"I play because I love the game. I keep playing because of my parents, they really support me. After high school I want to keep playing soccer but nothing too serious."

-Alex Jiu, '09

It was my first sport, so the many years I have played, my passion for the sport has grown. It is a fun way to represent my school and I really want to get into NCS this year. Its been too long.

-Kyle Valenzuela, '08

Teeming with anticipation, the varsity team awaits the whistle and the start of the game.

Breakaways are one of the hardest attacks for a goalie to defend. Forward, Junior Antonio Garcia, Var, attempts to beat the Foothill defender. He uses speed he obtained from football to his advantage.

Dedicated to the sport, Luke Moran, Sophomore JV, defends yet another forward from advancing. His improvement throughout the season is evident in each game he plays.

Nick Moler, Freshman, JV, always plays with wholehearted intensity. Moler may be a Freshman, but he always gets around the older players who tend to underestimate him.

Junior, Alex Jiu, Var, takes the ball upfield after a throw in. With his quick moves, he easily brings the ball up field and goes back on the attack.

Edgar Castaneda, Sophomore, Var, skillfully dribbles through a line of defenders in the Foothill game. Edgar is one of the younger players on the varsity squad but knows how to be a team player. With his skillful passes and strong shots he will help the Hornets win many games to come.

1. Sophomore Charles Ouyang first discovered badminton in P.E. this year and says he "fell in love with it." He now plays for the team in both singles and doubles.
2. Junior Jocelyn Lam waltzes toward the net after winning a point by hitting the birdie and having it fall onto the opponent's side.
3. Sophomore Jonathan Lin uses his quick reflexes to backhand the birdie over the net. He has to have stupendous endurance to last throughout multiple games.
4. Sophomore Leonne Chung warms up before a game by playing multiple matches against her teammates. She stands in a defensive stance as she awaits her opponent's serve.

What's your favorite food to eat before a game?

"Before a game I eat something small like rice crackers, because you don't want to overwhelm your stomach and eat something that will weigh you down."

- Clara (Soojin) Shin '11

" I like to eat bananas before a game because they give me a lot of energy and they're really tasty too."

-Truc (Rose) Hyunh '09

" I enjoy eating anything, but I'd prefer to eat Mexican food because it is hot and spicy."

-Kevin Chan '08

In her first year playing badminton, Sophomore Ying Xin Yu carefully positions her racquet in order to make a perfect serve over the net.

Senior, Matthew Barraza, swings his racquet rapidly to strike the birdie with much force to get the birdie over the net. This is his fourth year playing badminton.

Sophomore Rowena Huang keeps her eye on the birdie as she runs over to return it to the opposing side in hopes of scoring a point for the Hornet team.

Var pitcher, Jason Miller, '08, starts his wind-up in order to deliver his pitch with as much power and velocity as possible, hoping for a strike.

JV shortstop, Brandon Woo, '11, fires his knee in order to allow his hips and hands to follow while batting.

Var shortstop, Jordan Pries, '08, steps and prepares to throw to first base after fielding a ground ball so he can throw out the batter.

JV centerfielder. Calvin Fong, '09, squares up so he can bunt the ball down and advance the base runner up to the next base.

The Varsity team travelled to Japan this year to share the experience of friendship games with the Fukuoka Institute of Technology. Before their first game, both teams and all the coaches lined up in order to give a respectful bow to one another and to exchange gifts.

Home Plate: Var Catcher Casey O'Reilly, '08, tucks in his glove to his body while preparing to throw the ball back to the pitcher after catching a perfect curve ball. The pitcher-catcher combination in games has to be thought out in order to keep the two on track with one another so not to mix up the pitches.

First Base: JV pitcher Mathew Jones, '09, begins his secondary lead off of first base as soon as the pitcher begins to deliver the ball to home plate. A good secondary lead is essential in base running; it allows the runner to get closer to the base in hopes of shortening the distance between him and the base. This could be the difference of being safe or out.

Second Base: Var second baseman Johnathan Dunn, '08, throws the ball to warm up while taking infield-outfield. Warming up on the field helps him adjust to the way the ball will hop and how much speed it will have. This will help him with his judgments in the game anticipating a ground ball.

Third base: JV leftfielder Christopher Ngyuen, '11, stops his secondary lead short, because the catcher caught the ball and Ngyuen needs to make his way back to the base so as to not get picked off and make an unnecessary out. On the other hand, if the batter hit the ball, he would have to quickly make his way to home.

1. Var first baseman Daniel Brown, '08, turns his glove in order to catch the ball when the pitcher tried to pick off the base runner. If he missed the ball, the runner would move up to second and get a free pass into scoring position.

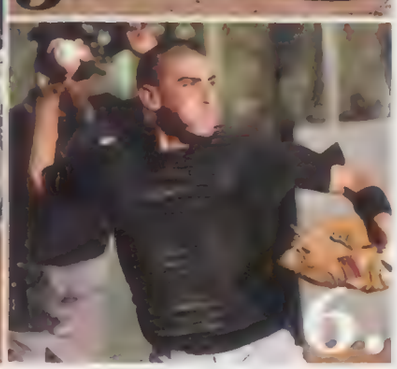
2. Var centerfielder William Sherratt, '08, pulls back his bat in order not to get a strike called on him when the pitch is actually a ball. If he left his bat out and missed the ball or it went foul it would count as a strike against him.

3. JV pitcher Tyler Cobb, '11, delivers the ball to the plate in hopes of striking the batter out. Good pitching is a key to winning games because the better a pitcher does, the easier the outs are to get in a game.

4. The JV baseball team huddles in order to give each other a pep talk after the inning and to recognize what each person did correctly and incorrectly.

5. Var third baseman Kyle Krinks, '09, uses an excellent technique to field the ball. It is all of the hard-work that Krinks puts in that allows him to be the best that he can be.

6. JV catcher Dylan Armijo, '11, throws the ball to first base after a dropped third strike in order to make sure that the base runner is out. If the runner makes it to first base before the ball, then he is considered safe.



What do you think are the key ingredients to a good team?

"I think that the key ingredients are determination, hardwork, and the ability to work together as a team."

-RJ Rosales,Var, '09

"I believe that the key ingredients to a winning baseball team are good teammates that support each other and who always push one another to be the best they can."

-A. Altman,JV, '10

"Some key ingredient to me would be talen friendship, and trus All of these help eve single person on a tea to perform well an that leads to a winning team.

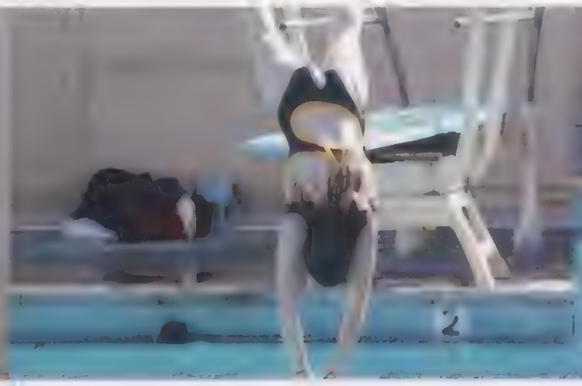
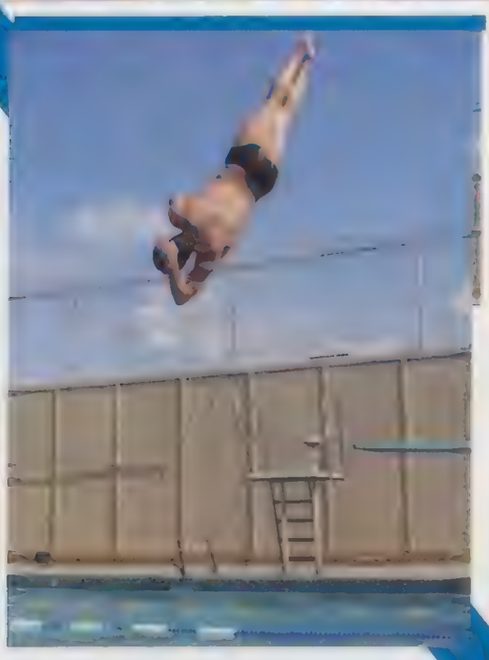
Natalie Slivka, '09, performs a front dive half twist, landing smoothly in the pool's water.

Zachary Hinton, '08, jumps off the diving board, before pulling off a front dive into the pool.

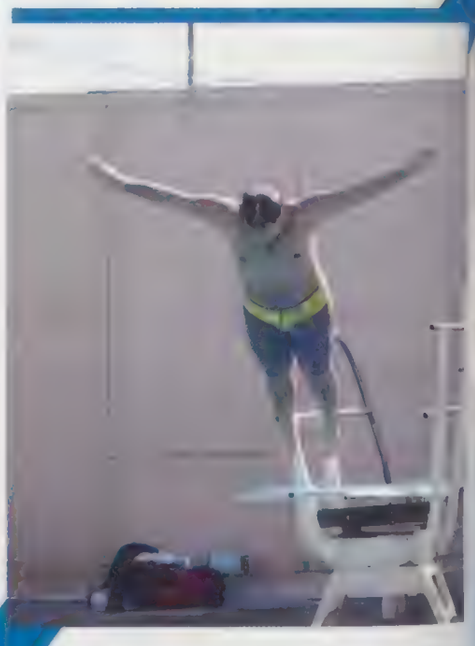
Monica Lee, '09, showcases a graceful front flip during a home meet against Oakland High.





Senior Randall Perkins, '08, performs a beautiful 1 1/2 front flips and one twist dive. Being Randall's last year he puts in an amazing performance.

Vincent Ogden, '09, performs a front dive. To pull off this stunt he must keep his body straight and attempt to land smoothly in the water. This is Ogden's first year on the diving team.



What do you like about diving?

gives you an drenaline rush. Diving akes me feel like I can . It's something that u can do that other eople are scared of and gives me the mind set that I can do stuff.

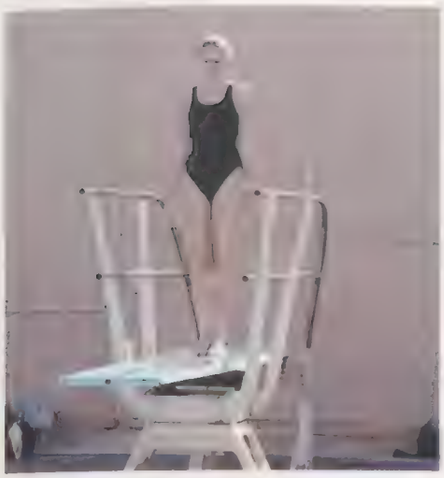
-D. Lyons Lau, '10

Diving is really fun and I like to meet new people. But I really like it because I never experienced any other sport besides gymnastics so it was good for me to do something new.

-Monica Lee, '09

I have been doing diving for a very long time. What I love about it is the rush you get when you approach the diving board and the feeling after, when you know you hit your dive.

-Randall Perkins, '08



Eleanore Johnston, '10, takes deep breaths in preparation for her dive. This is her first year on the diving team.

DIVING

Sophomore Kyle Bridge completes his back dive, landing vertically in the pool. He keeps his arms firmly pressed against his side so that he will enter the water as straight as possible.

Freshman Samantha Esguerra is hits her golf ball out of one of the many sand traps at Bay Farm's golf course; the golf term for hitting the ball out of the sand is often called a chip shot.

Golf

Varsity

To the left, Junior Christopher Tung patiently waits for his opponent to finish his turn. Chris' father first introduced the game to him five years ago and Chris has been playing for the Alameda High golf team since Freshman year. He enjoys playing because he plays well and the course helps him find his inner self.

To the right, Sophomore Marco Gonzalez carefully analyzes his opponent's swing before his turn to drive. In order to stay focused during a long match, Marco prefers not to think about anything that might make him nervous. Meanwhile, Senior Kyle Huey takes a quick break from the game by rehydrating himself.

1.) Sophomore Nathan Lilly follows in his brother's footsteps of playing golf at Alameda High. He is focused on putting the ball into the hole. Nathan has been playing golf for five years and has become better ever since. 2.) Junior Patrick Byrnes drives the ball with his driver, which is a club that can hit the ball a long ways. Patrick won an amazing match against Berkeley. He was really shocked that he came back during the last couple of holes. 3.) Senior Kyle Huey concentrates while trying to putt. Huey says that putting isn't easy because the greens are sloped. To make a good putt, you need to have a proper stance, keeping your body closer to the ball.

What was your most embarassing moment?

"When I teed up the ball and I swung, but when I was coming through with the swing, the ball fell off the tee."

-Joshua Yuen '11

"When I was seven, I was practicing on a course and there was this log on this lake and my brother dared me to walk on it. On my third step, I fell in the lake."

-Grace Na '11

"My most embarassing moment was when I first 'topped' the ball and it went like three yards from where I was standing."

-Seigo Ma '10

To the left, Sophomore Marco Gonzales concentrates on shooting the ball into the hole. Marco uses his putter to putt the ball. The best timeto putt the ball is when the ball is on the green.

To the left, the girl's varsity team poses for many photographers. All of the girls on the Alameda High Golf team had to perform at high levels in order to win the North Coast Sectionals, which are highly comepetitive matches.

To the right, senior Kyle Huey shows sportsmanship by shaking his opponent's hand, after a rousing game. Huey says that you don't need to shake hands before a game, but it is obligated afterwards.

To the right, Senior Michael Lilly puts in effort to hit the ball to the other side of the hole. The farthest he has hit a golf ball is 440 yards when he was at a game in Lake Tahoe.

Varsity player, Kiley Lonsdale '08, catches the ball with the intent to tag the opposing player out. In softball, tags are necessary when the force out is unattainable. A force out is when there is a runner on base prior to the one you are on and the ball is thrown to the base you are heading to. Therefore you stranded between bases and are out.

Varsity player Ashley Sanchez, '08, helps hit balls to her teammates so that they can work on their grounders. She helps them navigate the bounces and hops of the ball. She has been playing softball since she was eight years old.

Varsity player Stephanie Sorenson, Junior, runs to the base and makes a vital tag to keep her team above their opponents. This is her second year of playing catcher and her seventh year of playing softball.

Softball

enior Kelly Watts plays on the var-ity team. She has been playing since he was young in a little league. Good oaching and encouragement are hat motivate her. She has played ight field for two years on varsity.

Julie Lawson, '08, is set in a ready position prepared for any ball to be hit in her direction. She has been playing softball for ten years and she believes good chemistry is the key to having a successful team.

Tyler Freeman, '11, plays on junior varsity. She waits to catch the ball on third base, concentrating hard on the pitcher so that she can catch the ball. She has been learning softball from her past coaches and from her dad, with whom she sometimes likes to play at the park. What she likes about softball is the competitiveness which keeps her motivated. The Hornets won the recent game against Hercules High School and she felt happy and excited.

Sara Sedlack, '09, aims to catch the ball from the air. She has been playing on varsity all three years, and last year was ACCAL all league first team.

Varsity player Jill Yastishak, '08, has been playing softball for about ten years. As a pitcher, her pitches range from 50 to 56 mph. She stated. "this season started a little shaky, but it's picked up since then." Their goal, as always, is to win league and make NCS.

Samantha Ferris, '11, plays on junior varsity. She has been playing softball since she was five years old and she likes to play softball because it's fun to play with her friends and teammates. She also learns new skills to play smart every time she plays and that is what keeps her motivated. She also plays competitively during the summer.

What are some of your pre-game rituals?

"I like to get ready early so I can take my time. We usually listen to music as a team before, and I make sure I drink a lot of water to stay hydrated."

-Kelly Watts, '08

"I make sure to stretch out and get together with my team. We do a chant to hype each other up. I think about making good throws and always want to get a hit."

-Brittany Belt, '10

"Well it usually takes about 20 minutes for us to get ready. We pump each other up by writing our opponents' name in the dirt and everyone spits on it."

-Victoria Trujillo, '08

As one of the few Senior captains for the varsity swim team, Jessica Pan is a leader that the team looks up to. Not only does she hold some of the team's fastest times, once a week at practice she tutors other swimmers with academic needs.

Rebecca Pan, a promising Sophomore, takes after her older sister, Jessica Pan, in helping to lead the team to many wins with her fast, powerful swimming in events such as the 100 backstroke.

After their first meet against Arroyo, both the JV and Vasity teams have a meeting about the meet they just won. Varsity won 132-37 and JV won 112-28. All the swimmers who participated did extremely well.

Senior Katrina Turman is an imperative part of the varsity swim team, as she is one of the top backstrokers. Though the 100 backstroke is her specialty, she still excels in other events such as the 100 breastroke, as seen above.

Freshman Esther Paik keeps her pace as she competes in the JV 200 Freestyle race. Having just started swimming competitively, she has made immense progress since the beginning of the season.

Alison Almquist, '09, braces herself for her leg of the 200 medley relay while teammates Lindsey Fong, '09, and Eleanore Guenon, '11, provide moral support by cheering the team on.

With strong and smooth strokes, JV swimmer Emily Devey, '09, swims her 100 yards backstroke without hesitation. She has made tremendous progress since her first day Freshman year.

Varsity Freshman Heather Park paces herself evenly throughout her 500 yard freestyle race. This 20 lap events requires immense endurance and a strict sense of what speed to go throughout it.

What is your least favorite stroke and why?

"My least favorite stroke is the breaststroke. The reasons for that are because it's so boring and takes a such long time!"

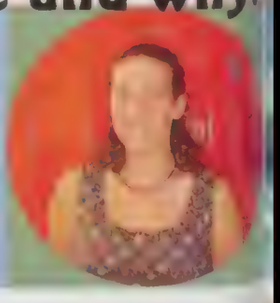
-Julia Mclean, '11

"My least favorite stroke is freestyle because I feel like it's so much more monotonous than the other strokes and just not as fun."

-Katrina Turman, '08

"My least favorite is definitely the butterfly. It's so hard! And not to mention tiring. Also when I do the butterfly, I think I look like an idiot."

-Shannon Barry, '09



Talented Sophomore swimmer and waterpolo player, Marlena Nip, is one of the many devoted swimmers on the varsity team. The hard work, time and dedication that she has put into her sport shines through as soon as she dives into the water. Her speedy 50 breastroke is a handy addition to any medley relay.

A beautifully coordinated and famously fast butterfly is demonstrated by Freshman Samantha Rados, an extremely valuable member of the varsity team, during one of her best events, the 200 IM.

Freshman Kelly Arth, one of the many new and beneficial additions to the varsity team, has been swimming her whole life. At every practice, she is always eager to improve her freestyle technique and stamina. Her hard work pays off with every race she swims.

Even though Evan Shum is a freshman, he has managed to make his way on to the varsity swim team. During a meet Evan swam the 50 Free with a time of 25.17 seconds.

Sophomore Daniel Evons-Lau backstrokes his way across to the other side of the pool. As a varsity swimmer, he practices persistently in order to be ready for the next meet.

Jared Thompson is a freshman on the varsity swim team this year. Even though it is his first year on the team he remains focused while practicing the breaststroke.

Andre Toni is a junior on the varsity team. He hangs around the lane lines in the pool, catching his breath before another swim.

To the left, Senior Humphrey Loh displays his butterfly stroke during a swim meet as a varsity swimmer. This year, he has managed to swim into Alameda High School's top 10 list in the 50-free race with a time of 22.36 seconds. This is the 8th fastest time in this event in Alameda High School's history.

Junior Bobby Chang races across the pool with his magnificent butterfly stroke. He is known to be one of the strongest members on the varsity team. As a part of the Ala Gators club team, Bobby practices year-round.

Junior Vincent Odgen works on his strokes during the mandatory afternoon practice. With daily conditioning, Vincent will surely strengthen his JV team.

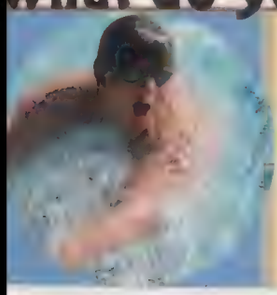
To the left, Ryan Shum flies through the water as another Junior on the varsity team. During a meet against the Oakland High School swim team, Ryan swam the 100 fly with a time of 1:11.14 seconds.

What do you do to prepare before a swim meet?



"We stretch out our arms and legs so we don't cramp up during our swim meets. We usually go to practices, warm up and stay warm."

-Chris Daniels, '10

"Before a meet I don't want to eat too much because I can't seem to swim as well on a full stomach."

-Kenny Fellows, '08

"To prepare for a meet I go to a mandatory morning practice on the day of the meet. Also I visualize the race beforehand and focus on my swim."

-Taylor Seals,

Dominating the court, Senior Thai Tu's racket follows through over his shoulder after delivering a backhand down the line with precision. Thai's skills have earned him the title of a No.1 rank in Northern California.

Matthew Elefant, '08, establishes precise control, as he prepares to do a backhand slice cross court, away from his opponent.

Thanks to countless hours of dedicated practice and talent, doubles partners, Nicholas Losande, '10, and Jain Thapa, '08, work well together on the court. Together they feed off each other's motivation and passion to pull through with a win.

Men's Tennis

The men's varsity tennis team plays "Butts Up," a friendlier variation of "suicide," a common pastime among students. According to the rules, the losing participants must wait as a tennis ball comes traveling full force, aimed at their rears.

The men's tennis team engages in BVO (Baseline Volley Overhead), a practice drill to perfect their techniques.

The men's tennis team huddles around Coach Hein who reminds them to incorporate every tactic against their opponents in the upcoming match.

Matthew Yuen, '09, displays good sportsmanship after a rigorous game. He has been on the varsity men's tennis team for three consecutive years. "It has been very difficult; I've worked hard to get where I am today."

Philip Dinh, '08, sprints towards the doubles alleys while extending his arm, managing to hit the tennis ball and push it back into play.

Ryan Lim and Jeffrey Li, '10, strategize and discuss possibilities for improving their game play to avoid making unnecessary mistakes.

Jeremy Dong, '09, and Bryan Gee, '11, are enthusiastic about playing doubles together for the first time. With Dong's experience and Gee's talent, they make excellent partners.

Terence Wu, '10, stands firm as he waits to anticipate the movement of his opponent's serve.

Benjamin Engle, '08, prepares to drive the tennis ball with a solid forehand, aiming toward the baseline. As a Senior, it is Engle's first year on the men's varsity tennis team.

Kyle Johnston, '10, places himself in the perfect position to return the ball with an incredibly low volley.

Why did you start playing tennis and who inspired you?

"Tennis is a fun and competitive sport. When I get on that court, nothing else matters except winning for my team. When I was around eight, my parents would take me to the tennis courts to play with them."

-Jeremy Dong, '09

"I enjoy playing tennis because it is an individual as well as a team sport. My mother influenced me to play when I was 10 years old, and I have been playing ever since."

-Ryan Lim, '10

"I started playing tennis three years ago, my dad knows the coach at Bishop O'Dowd and he taught me how to play. Ever since then my dad has been signing me up for tennis camp and I've been loving it."

-Benjamin Goode, '11

What helps you keep your focus during a race?

What helps me focus during a race is thinking about all the strategies and training that I got from practice.

-Albert Chu, '09

I don't really think during a race, but before it, I guess I just keep thinking about doing my best to satisfy myself. Also, knowing that there's a lot of people watching makes me want to do better too.

-Miranda Cohen, '09

I try getting hyped to stay focused. I also try to forget about my competition and run the race to the end.

Men's Volleyball

JV and Varsity

The JV team holds a quick conference to discuss the opponent's strategies, strengths and weaknesses. The purpose of the conference is to help the team use the information they recieved to their advantage during the remainder of the game.

Before the game, the varsity team meets up with their coach so he can give them pointers and advice that will enable them to win the game. The coach reminds them of the strategies they memorized during practice and the best positions individual team member should take in order for them to efficiently score more points.

Senior Masoud Adina serves the ball across the net to start the Hornets off with a couple of points. Serving, used to put the ball into play, is one of the six basic skills that are controlled exclusively by one player.

Freshman Justin Clark, patiently waits for the ball to come to him so he can efficiently hit the ball to one of his teammates. The team now has two more hits left to get the ball across to the other side.

Sophomore Jessie Groves reacts quickly and bumps the ball to his teammate during practice. Groves gains more strength each day at practice so when game day comes, he can feel confident.

With a powerful spike, Sophomore Nate Silverman, succeeds in scoring the Hornets another point in the game. After such a powerful spike, Silverman quickly positions himself for the next play.

What is your strength in volleyball? Spiking, bumping...

"I am good at digging, which is good because it helps reset the offense for a play. Also, our team is good this year so we are going to challenge our league."

-N. Williams, 11th

"For me, instead of just hitting and spiking the ball, I have more of an eye for open spaces, allowing me to score."

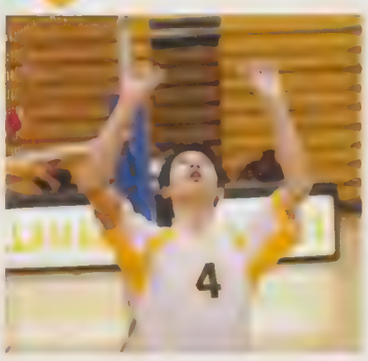
-K. Sutton-Chappell, 10th

"I believe that my best quality in volleyball is spiking because I have a powerful arm that enables me to get the ball far across the net."

-B. Paik 10th

Sophomore Leif Reynolds turns inward so the ball can land in-bounds onto the opponents court, allowing the Hornets to keep their lead in the game.

Sophomore Can hui Li overhand passes the ball to his teammate setting the ball for a bullet-like spike. Li has helped the team score with his precise moves.



The Hornets' opponent tries to hit the ball over the net but Sophomore Calvin Le is prepared for what is coming his way and blocks the opponents hit.

Senior Eddie Lee bumps the ball to his teammate so they can get it over the net. When a team is preparing to score the team usually bumps the ball three times before actually scoring.

Like peas in a pod, a sports team is a close-knit group of athletes who grow together until ripe and ready to play. Teamwork is vital to our sports at Alameda High. During the season, our teammates become like a second family to each of us. The experience of practicing together at 5:00 am or until 8:00 pm after a long day of school; travelling together on the team bus to away games; overnight stays for out-of-town tournaments; and devastating plays where two Hornets put the opponent to rest all cause us to grow. We become bigger, better and stronger. Therefore, each of our teams is like a veritable bunch of broccoli, a head of cauliflower or a set of potatoes in the vegetable garden of AHS sports.

What makes up...

communication

"There's always talk between the infielders and outfielders. During games, the bench is always talking to the fielders and encouraging the pitcher."
Kyle Leong '11

dedication

"Swimming up to 6 days a week for 6 years is my dedication. It can get boring sometimes without my friends there but it's necessary to progress."
Heather Park '11

friendship

"The football team is like a family, you develop a bond with all of your teammates and by the end of the season all of your acquaintances have become your best friends."

seniors

chef's choice

As one of the largest classes in Hornet history, the Seniors have learned to interact and befriend each other. We are proud of and embrace our differences. We are the most mature, the brightest and the most experienced. As Seniors, we have been here the longest and deserve the best. We shine both inside and outside of the classroom, starring in musicals, scoring goals, performing in front of large crowds and excelling in the classroom. Whether it's dancing the night away on the Commodore Galaxy at Senior Banquet, cheering along our Las Vegas-themed float during Homecoming or getting rallied up for spirit week, the class of 2008 always has fun together. In terms of an eight-course meal, we are the chef's choice.

Senior Banquet

As the last year of high school slowly comes to an end, the Seniors begin their journey of "Lasts." Last first day of high school, last holidays of high school, last season of high school sports, etc.... Before June 2008 comes and goes, Seniors attend Banquet. What better way to begin the first of many senior activities than a night full of fun and laughter on a yacht sailing across the San Francisco Bay? Here the journey begins...

Anxious Seniors greet each other while they wait in line to get onto the boat.

main courses

The academic section is the main course of our meal; it is after all, the primary reason we come to school. Like a family exploring various dishes of a meal, students are able to experience different classes with interest, enthusiasm and sometimes trepidation. Teachers at Alameda High School encourage us to approach material in many creative ways. We participate in class discussions, debates and projects. As chopsticks are to sushi, graphing calculators are to Calculus; as bread is to ethiopian food, Shakespeare is to English Literature. The main dish is the hearty, chewy center of a meal. Through these experiences, students are able to engage in intellectual activities while bonding together as a student body.

Left: Senior Judith Cruces loves being on stage. She has been playing the violin for eight years and chose the instrument for its aesthetic sound and appearance. After two months of practice, the band performed at the winter assembly and was a huge success.

Classes | 190

Core Classes | 198

Freshman Camila Martinez Granata is helping freshman Michelle Licea out by putting the strips of paper maché over her face. Camila and Michelle are making a paper maché mask in Mrs. Milgrim's class. After the masks dry, they are able to paint their personal designs. "That stuff on my face felt so nasty Ix wanted to take it off and it was also itchy." said Michelle Freshmen Dustin Ho and Ryan Fong are also sketching a perspective drawing of the hall. They are measuring the accuracy of their perspective with rulers." We are checking the angles of the locker," said both Ho and Fong. "My sketch turned out just fine but I didn't finish it," said Dustin Ho. "I finished mine and it turned out really well," commented Ryan Fong.

1.) Freshman Lori Nquyen began with vasoline so the mask can come off easier, but then after they soak strips of something in a paste to make the mask stay together. Finally, after the mask dries they get to paint the mask.

2.) Junior Hoa Chung is dancing to the rhythm of the African beats. Chung is practicing for the final where they have to perform in front of Mrs. Gill.

3) Sophomore Rachel Quintana is demonstrating how to use PhotoShop efficiently. Rachel is editing one of her many photos for a power point project. Rachel was tampering with her action photo.

What do you like about art?

"We are able to do a wide variety of projects in the biggest room in the school. I also like the different materials we use, such as plaster, paints, and pencils."

- Benjamin Goode, '11

"My favorite thing about multimedia art is that we are able to manipulate and create pretty pictures. The best thing is we get to use the different equipment, like the professional cameras."

- Tam Le, '10

To the right Senior Ray Chene Morie Alvarez and Junior Alejandra Sainz De La Rica are in a deep conversation about the movement of their African dance. After dancing, Ray and Alex talk about what they did wrong and how they can make it better the next time around.

Art & Dance

Mrs. Milgrim's Art 1 class works on a perspective drawing where they draw the point of view from their position in the hallway.

In Mrs. Milgrims class she posts her students work all around the room. All of her Art 1 students made a town with a railroad going straight through it.

Dance class is practicing a routine they recently learned. They are starting out with a new dance so everyone is unsure of the dance steps.

Sophomores Ashton Doulabi Ramezani and Daniel Lyons Lau take a quick shot of woodchips for their project in Multimedia Art.

Band

Mr. Hidalgo conducts the members of the band with great passion. He has a great love for music and intends to pass it on to all the band members.

Kyle Valenzuela, '08, is a member of the Argyle Sweaters, a band made of students here at Alameda High. The Argyle Sweaters do many performances here at the school and we even had a spirit day named after them.

Melissa Scott '09 concentrates on her music for the song Urban Dances that she and her fellow band mates are performing, which helps them perform the song flawlessly.

Joseph Maier '08 has been playing the piano for four years and all of his hard work and practice really show in the assembly.

1. Joshua Ramos '08, plays his saxophone enthusiastically during his solo. He puts a lot of hard work into the band. Joshua has been playing saxophone since fourth grade. Even without much practice, his dedication is what helped him play his solo.

2. Lisa Hickox '08, must concentrate on the exact position of where she places her fingers in order to hit the right notes. She loves to play guitar because she thinks it's good in any style and there are always new challenges for her to face.

3. Andrew Ramos '09, another member of the Argyle Sweaters, loves to play guitar and practices playing everyday. He also practices by playing Guitar Hero in his free time.

4. Madeleine Giordano '08 plays drum passionately during the concert. Giordano has been playing drums for a while and she manages to play in sync with all the other band members, thus, setting a perfect rhythm.

5. Mr. Hidalgo commands the band members to quiet down so they can begin to practice for their next performance. It is all the hard work that they put in that makes them as great as they are.

The beautiful sound of the saxophones really stands out from all the other instruments playing because they have a soulful touch to them.

The clarinets have practiced for two months preparing themselves for the winter concert. This helped them to play consistently without making any mistakes.

How do you prepare before a performance?

"I like to get a good night sleep the night before the performance. When the day comes for the performance, I will take a shower and try to look pretty."

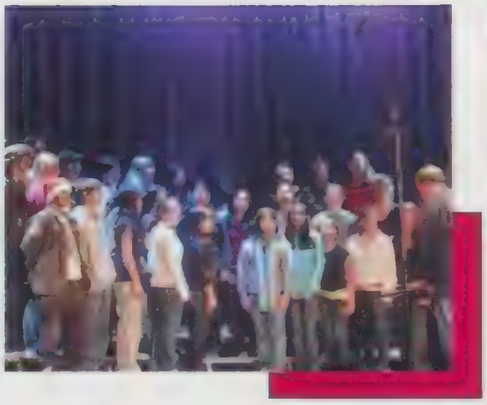
- Leslie Ji '09

"Before a performance I usually eat a big dinner the night before so I will have the energy to last the entire performance. I will also practice for a while the night before."

-Tyler Sanderson '09

Choir

Mr. Hildalgo energetically directs the AHS choir class during their annual Winter Concert.



The AHS choir class follows Mr. Hildalgo's conducting during their practice in the Koffman Auditorium. They performed a total of five songs at the AHS Winter Concert.

Musical Theater practices for the AHS Winter Concert. They performed "You Can't Stop the Beat" from the musical Hairspray.

Casey Hutchison '11, waits for her cue to begin her solo. While she waits, the rest of musical choir backs her up with singing.

R. Quesada '10, B. Hoye '10, and N. Martinez '11, members of the baritone section, rehearse their performance for the Winter Concert.

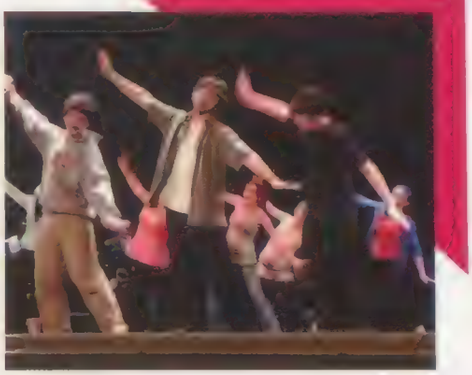
Mr. Hidalgo leads the tenor/baritone section in the Norwegian song "Adieu."

Rosie Atkinson '11 and Katrina Furman '08, step to Musical Theater's carefully choreographed routine.

Catherine Ng '10, Aamirah Dastgir '11, and Courtney Lee '11, attentively watch Mr. Hildalgo during a pause in the song "Sweet Amarillis."

Musical Theater finishes off their performance of "You Can't Stop the Beat." They perfected this grand finale by practicing a great deal.

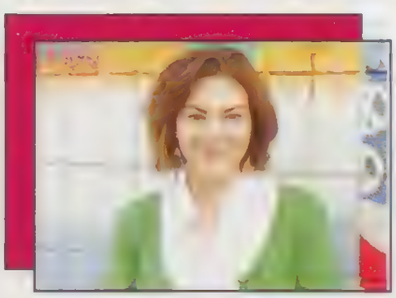
Nathan Brown '11, Alec Mathieson '11, and Thomas Oducayen '08, dance with rest of the Musical Theatre class while they rehearse "You Can't Stop the Beat".



The choir waits for Mr. Hidalgo to lead them in "Louisiana." They sang this song during their performance at the Winter Assembly.

The choir sing "California Dreamin'" during the Winter Concert on December 13. Their hard work paid off; an audience member commented that their performance was "fantastic."

What is the best thing about choir?



"Choir is more then a class. It is a family. Four years in choir has increased my confidence and enabled me to form strong friendships with Freshmen to Seniors. Singing has created a bond with friends whom I will always treasure."

-Emily Manson '08

"I like that it is such a calm environment and nobody cares if we mess up because we are such a big family like Emily said. If you make a mistake, make it loud and proud."

-Monica Lee '11

1. Senior Andy Meyer is one of the new-found talents of the drama department thanks to his role as the Beast in last spring's The Beauty and the Beast. Here he plays the role of Sir Toby, the rowdy drunkard uncle of Olivia. Paired with Maria, Olivia's clever maid played by Junior Kelly Reynolds, the two provide the play with humor, leaving the audience laughing repeatedly.
2. Senior Nora Gordon skillfully plays the role of Viola, a strong-willed woman that dresses up as a man under the alias of Cesario. This identity becomes the object of affection of Olivia, played by Darrah Jones '09.
3. Comedy, cleverness and music are brought to the stage by Jason Berk, '10, who plays the role of Feste, the sharp-witted fool.
4. Malvolio, the extremely self-righteous steward of Olivia's house is phenomenally played by Senior and accomplished actor Donald Landers.
5. Viola, played by Nora Gordon '08, becomes besotted with her employer, the Count Orsino, played by Benjamin Hughson '09, even though he uses her to profess his love to the fair maiden Olivia.
6. by In the opening scene, Sophomores Lauren Mercado and Azra Muftic do a lovely fan dance in Orsino's ballroom.

What's your most embarrassing moment on stage?

"In the Music Man Jr. for KTTS. I was offstage when I heard silence until it hit me that, oh shoot. I was supposed to be on stage! I panicked and then covered it up by instinctively yelling 'Marian? Marian? Where are you!?" and pretending to be looking for her.

- Erin Nickell, '09

"When I get nervous on stage, I panic and start to laugh a lot louder than I really need to, which is pretty embarrassing."

- Jeanette Zhu '10

Journalism

The entire journalism class takes a break from their hectic schedule and responsibilities to take a funny group picture like a family.

Madeline Kuttner, and Rachael Valler, '09, the Buzz Editors, show us part of the procedure to successfully create an article that is informative and will be published in the Oak Leaf.

Brigid O' Donoghue, '09, Kirsten Allen, and Alyssa Ruckman, '08, spend their time reading the newspaper in class to raise awareness of current events that may affect them.

Fayola Perry, '09, and Matt O' Brien, '08, brainstorm about possible ideas and changes needed to be made in their writing.

The journalism class works together efficiently, despite the intense atmosphere due to an upcoming deadline.

Monica Lee, and Allen Young, '09, use the skill of teamwork to give each other feedback on their stories.

Ryan Shum, and Daniel Chen, '09, read the San Francisco Chronicle to get new ideas for future reference and writing assignments.

Annie Murray, '11, quietly reads the newspaper, reviewing the current news in the San Francisco Chronicle.

We catch Janelle Bitker, '09, in action, as she is in the process of opening up her page to continue working on her article.

Samantha Vaughan, '09, laughs from relief, as she completes her story before the deadline.

A stack of previously published Oak Leaf issues lies in a pile in the journalism class, allowing easy access for whoever desires to read past articles.

Are you interested in pursuing a career in journalism?

Yes, because writing is my passion. It enables me to voice my opinion in an eloquent manner.

-Michelle Loo '10

Yes, one day, I would like to head a news magazine like Time or Newsweek. I would also like to get into broadcasting journalism.

-Jain Thapa '08

1. JoannaLouie and Debbie Gee, '10, count up the Junior Prom ballots in order to find out who the nominees are.

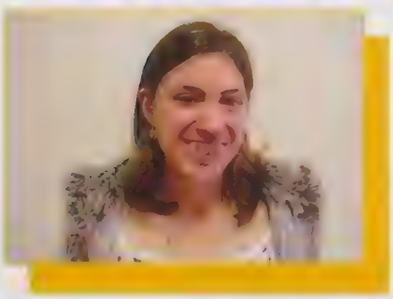
Lauren Lee and Maddy Kuttner, '09, help each other out in order to finish their poster.

Senior Ju Young Hong asks his fellow classmates for advice about what he should put on his poster.

What is the most fun part of leadership?

Homecoming is the most fun part of the year because of the spirit, and also the retreat because of the bonding experience.

- Gaby Loparo, '09



I like leadership because I like being involved in school activities. I also like the environment and how everyone is really helpful.

- Hillary Pritchard, '11

Treasurer Deanna Quach, '09, counts up all the money that leadership has raised so they know what their spending limit for school activities is.

Juniors Brittney Lew and Bobby Chang debate about whom Mr. Nakamura should buy a ticket from for the Alameda High School musical Fiddler on the Roof.

Leadership

Say hello to the leadership class of the '07-'08 school year. This year's class seems to be very enjoyable and always has a good time.

Juniors Kimmy Ramsey and Tina Tran relax and try to brainstorm new ides for in order to help out the leadership class as much as they can.

English

Juniors Albert Chu,Jeremy Duong, and Mark Wada present their interpretation of the poem Leaves of Grass by Walt Whitman. The three eloquently support their points with solid evidence and dramatic effects to get the point out.

Left: Juniors Daniel Chen, Matthew Yuen, and Allen Young cannot help but smirk at one of Mr. Carmen's hearty jokes.

Right: As Sophomore Nick Losande types his draft, Ms. Carroll and the rest of the class critique and watch as he gets his creative juices flowing.

1.Sophomores Cesar Hernandez and Carol Tam collaborate together in a three-man group to finish one of Ms. Carroll's more energetic projects.

2.Freshmen Patricia Phi, Angela Thai, Lauren Upp, Marykim Hoang, Nadya Machrus, and Shuki Chan take advantage of Mr. Martin's free time by showing that Freshmen have spirit.

History

Ms. Casper helps out Sophomore Ajaya Rana with his homework. Students say that they enjoy Ms. Casper's class and that she is a wonderful teacher to have.

Above: Seniors Jordan Pries, Daniel Hobbs, and James Pond engage in a class discussion as they give their opinion on how to improve the economy.

Below: Sophomore Francis Nguyen focuses hard on his history worksheet. He double checks his answers to make sure that every single answer is complete and correct.

Above: Sophomores Tucker Grealish and Liam Davis study their notebooks in class for an upcoming test on World War I.

Below: Sophomores Kellie Grigg and Schyler Peck McNally willingly work on their notebooks in History. They want to make sure that it is organized and complete in order to receive a good grade.

Sophomore Aaron Soohoo gets off of his injured leg to work on his newspaper report in the Media Center for Mr. O'Malley's modern world history class.

In Mr. Manno's class, seniors Tarin Ford and Nick Darracq gets involved in his game. He likes to keep things fun and exciting with his classes in order to keep them awake and to ensure that they have an interesting class each and every day.

Seniors Ian Bonachea, Martin Castellanos, Emily Clinton, and Agna Mung, pay close attention to an intriguing lesson that their teacher, Mr. Caziarc, is giving about government and economy.

Senior Nick Darracq stands up in Mock Congress, to voice his opinion on the bill at issue. This year was the first year ever that a marijuana bill passed in Mock Congress.

1) Senior Wes Moyer raises his hand during a class discussion in Mr. Manno's government class. Moyer wants to give his opinion to make sure he is heard by everyone in the class. Wes is not only an incredible athlete, he is also very studious earning a scholarship to Yale next fall.

2) Uyanga Usukhabayar, '10, finishes her work efficently for her history class. She is working on a worksheet that has dire information about their upcoming test.

3) Sophomores Jesse Groves, Timothy Watanabe, and Ingrid Hodel in Ms. Casper's history class take extremely detailed notes during a very serious lecture about history. These notes are very important in order to get an A.

What do you like about history?

Mr. Manno's sheet jokes, the games, and he gives the class a good, fun, relaxed atmosphere. He is different, makes it fun to come to class.

-Cole Blankenship '08

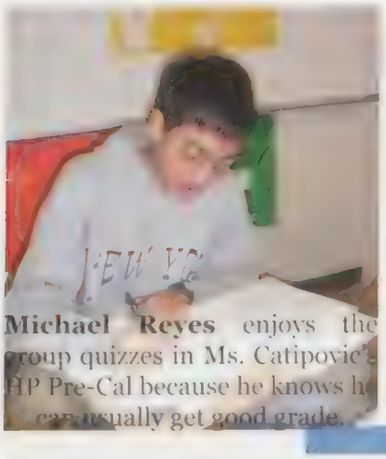
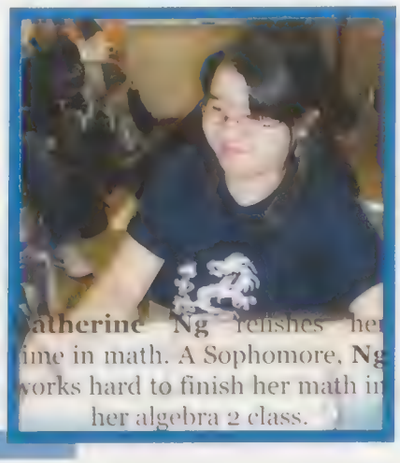
Learning about our past and how we got here, and what people had to go through, and hoping that we don't repeat the past.

Arianne Guzman '09



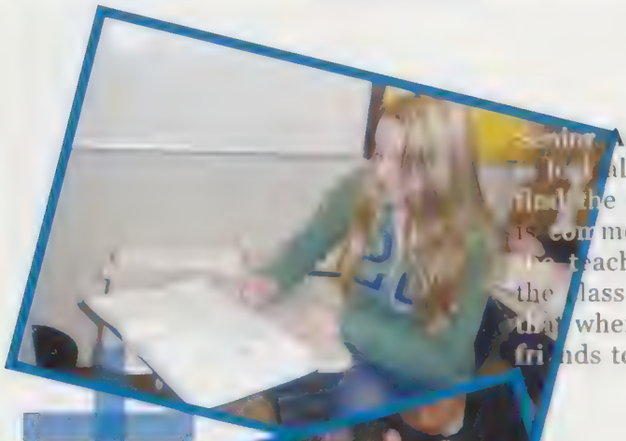
Michael Reyes enjoys the group quizzes in Ms. Catipovic's HP Pre-Cal because he knows he can usually get good grade.



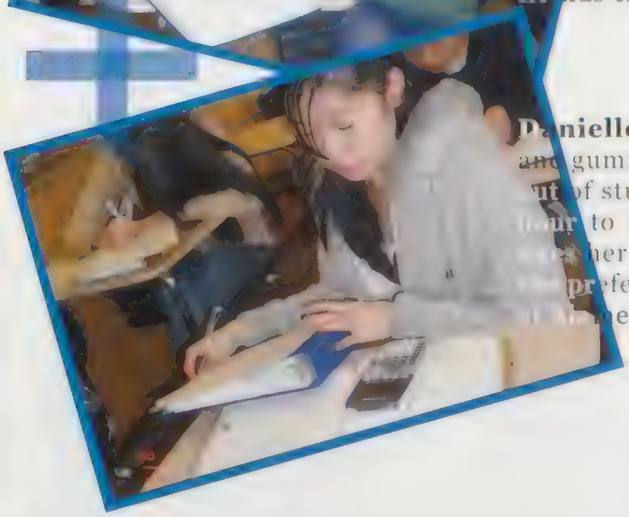
Katherine Ng relishes her time in math. A Sophomore, Ng works hard to finish her math in her algebra 2 class.

Senior Jackie Hartnett focuses hard on her class work. This aids her to learn in a more efficient manner.

Senior Robert Malon absolutely loves his math class because of his close friend, which makes his class enjoyable.



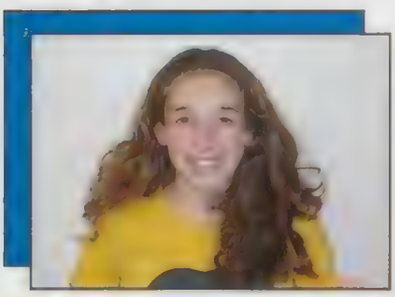
Ashley Edmondson likes how math is logical and unlike English, she can always find the answer. "I love statistics because it is common sense." Edmondson enjoys the new teaching methods which helps to make the class fun and easy. Edmondson knows that when she needs help she always has her friends to support her and its easy to stay on top of things.



Danielle Li, Senior, enjoys eating chocolate and gummies because it "takes the bitterness out of studying." She studies for between an hour to two hours for tests. Although, she likes her time in Ms. Quan's statistics class, she prefers algebra 2. Finishing her last year at Alameda High she wants to finish in great stride.

Ms. Needham uses different techniques to motivate her students. In the start of the second semester, she gave students an inspiring speech involving oranges. You have to work to peel an orange not knowing if it going to be sweet or not; just like in life, you have to work hard not knowing what the outcome is going to be. This speech led to a highly motivated and attentive class.

What's your favorite study time snack?



I love to eat sour jelly beans and barbecue chips. They are delicious and keep me energized while studying.

- Gina Salerno, '10

Anything that's delicious. Actually, now that I think of it, I really enjoy sour cream chips.

- Michelle Leong, '11

Sophomore Alex Altman doesn't enjoy math but in Ms. Sarvey's algebra 2 class he says, "I like how Ms. Sarvey teaches." He believes that with the right teacher any class can be fun. He has also made new friends in the class, that makes the class more enjoyable.

Senior Niko Aumua is the aide for Ms. Sarvey and helps her to run the classroom smoothly while grading papers. Aumua is finishing out his last year at Alameda High and is a loyal helper to his fourth period class.

Mathematics

Sophomores Irene Wen, Amanda Doung, and Anjuli Sastry work during a short math break to compare the different answers they got on their calculators. Together they can find the correct answer.

In Ms. Needham's Algebra I class, Janelle Martin and Khyre Bailey help each other solve quadratic equations. Together they can overcome the difficult problem.

Junior Jai Barcelona works hard and enjoys the company of his friends in Ms. Quan's class. Ms. Quan is an especially easy teacher to listen to, allowing Barcelona to succeed.

Seniors Andrew Nguyen and Stephanie Tso are trying a new method of learning. Tso ponders her statistics problem while Nguyen looks on with a helping eye.

Left: Junior Adam McKinney writes a short story about Roaring 20's slang.
Right: Seniors in Ms. Rudd's class listen carefully awaiting to take notes for an upcoming test.

Left: Freshman Jordan Jarrell sinks his first ten shots in the throwing competition but took too long between throws and lost to Junior Tammeem Gawhary.

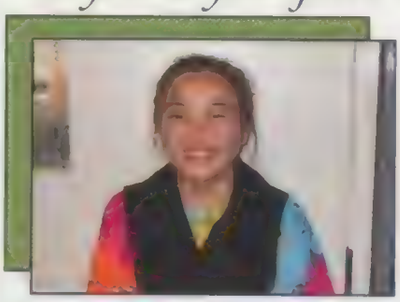
Right: Freshmen in Mr. Sutherland's class laugh together in their book group about the events that have taken place in their novel.

Why did you join Media Academy?



I joined The Academy because I thought I was going to be able to use computers and take multi-media art. I like the people in my class, they are a lot of fun.

-Linda Zhang '11

Because it's the golden mean of English and history. It's two periods with the same teachers and same kids, and grades. Focus energy on grades and get two good grades.

P.E. and Judo

Students in P.E. are constantly split into teams. During this game of handball the black team is in possession of the ball but is closely pursued by members of the gold team, who also want the ball.

1) These judoka practice the Russian roll during their sparring match against each other in Mr. Quinonez's 5th period judo class.

2) Daryle Wright '11 looks for an open pass while William Colvin '11, one of the Gold teams players, tries to cut him off by running towards him before he can pass the ball.

3) Kevin Nguyen goes for a strike during the 5th period Sophomore Trip to Mel's Bowling Alley. He enjoys these trips to the bowling alley because it's a break from the normal P.E. day.

4) Mr. Quinonez helps students while they practice their mat work. He is showing his students how to perform a cross-body pin. It is generally used by more advanced practitioners.

Ananda Gebreyesus '10, Chiarra Duncan '10 and Mukhtar Kohistani '10 relax after their daily warm-up jog.

Daniel Lyons Lau '10 faces off against his opponent in the judo room. They practice Randori at least twice a week.

Rachel Quintana '10 exercises her triceps at one of the lanes of the local AMF bowling alley.

As the girls get split up into teams by Mr. Thomas, the boys wait patiently for their turn in the upcoming game of handball.

Kyle Bridges, '10, runs with enthusiasm during the daily warm-up jog, routine for every student participating in P.E.

While Mr. Quinonez gives a lecture about judo, Sandy King '10 and the rest of the judo class listen in, hoping to pick up a few useful hints.

William Lyons '11 dribbles the ball during an intense game of handball during Coach Thomas's 4th period class. He is followed closely by members of the Gold team who are intent on getting the ball back to its side.

What is the best thing about physical activity?

"It is very energizing. It gets me hyper. The P.E. uniforms are comfortable and the sweats are nice."

-Rebekah Asuncion '11

"Usually we beat up Andrew... but you can't put that in the yearbook. Um... judo teaches us important defensive skills and is fun."

Sarah Sedlack,'09, holds a solar panel high in the sky to take of advantage of the sun's powerful rays and to ensure maximum efficiency for her project.

Stephanie Wong, '09, observes her ecocolumn over several grueling months and waits patiently for any sudden changes.

As Sophomore Fiona Wong works on her chemistry worksheet with ease, Sophomore Ross Koppel takes a quick look to reassure himself of his answers.

Senior William Irons, '08 and Junior Christopher Chui, '09 are experimenting with vibrations on a spring and look for any ambiguous numbers using a computer software named Labpro.

What do you like about science?

What I like about science is that we do labs and it helps grasp the concept. There was a lab that we did about static electricity balls where your hair stands up.

- Allyson Santa Maria, '11

What I enjoyed in science so far is working with different chemicals and how to start chemical reactions.

-Richard Alexander, '10

Juniors Chris Tung, '09 and Corey Tan, '09, collaborate together in hopes of creating a self-sufficient environment to see if there is a direct correlation between dissolved oxygen and the heat of the environment.

Juniors Sydney Lee Eddie Huang and Xiao Chen are attempting to create a water pump in hopes of finding out the secret of solar power during AP environmental science.

beverages

Many of us choose to begin our day with a nice, hot cup of steaming coffee or tea and end it with a tall, refeshing glass of water. With all our responsibilities at school, life at Alameda High can be a little hectic and we need refreshment. We stress about friends, we stress about jobs, we stress about activities and we stress about homework. However, some school events aren't stressful at all. The Alameda High School Leadership class organizes various spirit days and dances where we can all have fun with our friends. Just like a nice, cool beverage on a warm and sunny day, the activities we participate in, the vacations we go on and the holidays we celebrate serve to rejuvenate us.

Homecoming:

Spirit week... class assembly... court voting... float building... color wearing... all these phrases can only mean one thing: Homecoming! For many Alameda High students, Homecoming is the time of the year where each grade unites under a single color for a week of school spirited fun. Decked out in gray, orange, green, and red, each grade has its own motto that it chants during the Homecoming assembly. For the first time this year, the assembly was split up into two because of the gym's capacity. The football game at the end of the week also allows each grade to compete during halftime with the float parade. This year's theme for the floats was famous cities. In addition, each grade's elected prince and princess dress up and ride during the parade, ending with the announcement of the Senior Court on the field. All this ends with the annual Homecoming dance, held in our very own Patton Gym.

Sophomore Princess and Prince: Taylor Jacobs & Benjamin Paik

Freshman Prince and Princess: Michael Cunningham & Liana David.

Q: What is your favorite spirit day?

"My favorite spirit day is the first day of school. I get to see who is in my class and the best part about it all is by going in for something new and different."

-Benjamin Trinh

Spirit and Halloween:

Spirit days are a time where everyone shows their school spirit by dressing up for days such as Nerd Day and Argyle Sweater Day. Here at Alameda High, everyone shows pride in our school in their own creative way by dressing up for these Spirit Days or Halloween. Spirit days truly bring the students at Alameda High together. When it's Twin Day the students come in packs of two, while on Class Color Day each student represents his or her own class by wearing their class colors. On Halloween, kids get to bring fun to school by showing off their crazy costumes while in class. Spirit Days and Halloween bring out the excitement in school.

The recipe for making a great spirit day is a dash of style and two cups of originality. Whip in sprinkles of personality, and a tablespoon of spunk. Mix it together into a huge bowl of spirit so that there are no extra ingredients left over.

Recipe for a successful spirit day:

Step 1: Find out what spirit day is next
Step 2: Use your imagination for the perfect outfit
Step 3: Go a little bit crazy & think outside the box
Step 4: Make sure all your friends are spirited too!
Step 5: Top it off with a smile on your face
Step 6: Head out to school full of spirit

FADS & FASHION:

Recipe for the perfect outfit:

Step 1.) Roll out of bed.
Step 2.) Hunt through those piles of laundry.
Step 3.) Mix in some bright colors.
Step 4.) Pull on your favorite jeans.
Step 5.) Don't forget your socks.
Step 6.) Lace up those Vans.
Step 7.) Grab you're sidekick, ipod and cell phone.
Step 8.) Smile in the mirror.
Step 9.) Make sure your lookin' so fresh and so clean.
Step 10.) You're good to go!

Drinks and beverages come in all sorts of flavors, just like the students here at Alameda High. It's not always about looks, but the way you express and present your style which separates you from the rest of the pack. Hornets are not only trendy, but unique by being trend-setters. Looking good gives you confidence and the attitude that you can do just about anything. So let loose and don't just fit in; make a splash with your style!

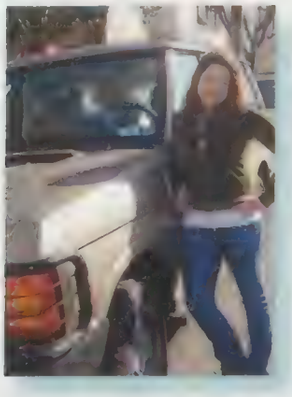
Food Faire:

It's the time of the year when clubs get together and work hard to bring food to the students. There is a variety of choices such as Asian food, Hispanic food, French desserts, and more. It is like a huge buffet brought to us by the clubs in AHS. All the food is well-prepared and very delicious, like the famous clam chowder bowl made by DECA. Many clubs because of the Wellness Policy, put into affect by the school district, came out to take their first of two opportunities to fundraise money for their club functions. These efforts from club members are what make Food Faire a fun and memorable experience for the food makers, and food buyers. Numerous students come out together to eat a diverse selection of foods ranging from coast to coast, entree to entree. They also get to enjoy their food with each other while sitting on benches and listening to music provided by Alameda High's very own musical groups.

Directions for enjoying Food Faire:
Step 1: Look at all the tables.
Step 2: Check out all the food.
Step 3: Pick your selection.
Step 4: Get platefuls of your favorites.
Step 5: Enjoy!
Step 6: Get more.
Step 7: Enjoy again!

Q:

Do you feel obligated to give your friends a ride to school when they ask? Why or why not?



"Sometimes, yes, because I feel bad for those who have to walk, and no, because everyone has a chance to get their own license."

Taheli Kolhman
'08

"Sometimes, yes, because my friends give me grief when I say no, and no, because I pay for my own gas and they do not help me."

Transportation:

Driving your car:
- Step 1: Check yourself out in the mirror.
- Step 2: Turn the engine on.
- Step 3: Turn on the latest jams.
- Step 4: Click it or ticket.
- Step 5: Begin to cruise on your way to success.

Riding your bike, scooter, and skate board:
- Step 1: Get on your cruiser.
- Step 2: Turn on the latest jams on your ipod.
- Step 3: Begin your ride to success.
- Step 4: Upon arrival straighten out your fit.

Taking the bus:
- Step 1: Chill at the bus stop.
- Step 2: Chat with some friends.
- Step 3: Pull out your bus pass or 85 cents.
- Step 4: Begin to board the bus.
- Step 5: Choose your seat.
- Step 6: Get comfortable for a ride to success.

These amazing tips are what all students do when preparing themselves for a long day at school. A student's transportation method is the first ingredient towards a successful Alameda High School day. With all these amazing recipes, a student can switch up their transportation method to school without an excuse of not knowing what to do.

After School

Shohei Kobayashi '09

Q: How do you balance your after school activity and your school-work?

"I do all my school work first and then if I have time, I practice Guitar Hero. For about a year and a half, I've been practicing an hour or two a day when I can. Lately, school work has been more important than Guitar Hero."

- Corey Tan
'09

"I balance school and crew by starting my homework immediately when I get home from practice and just doing work at any free chance I get."

- Samantha Sligh
'09

after school:

Your eyes fall on a random person in your math class as your teacher drones on about symmetries. Would you guess that she has devoted her life to dancing for four hours a day or that he plays the drums in a band? Many AHS students juggle school, homework, friends, and extracurriculars. From competing in triathlons to being 39th in the world on Guitar Hero, many around us has found something they are passionate about. Only love and dedication for something could hold a person to stick with it even when life is the most taxing. We should all take the time to find out what the people around us do and what motiviates them to accept the challenges that come with it. We may be surprised to learn what the person who seemed so ordinary is capable of.

Recipe for an after school activity:

Step 1: Get home from school.
Step 2: Work on homework.
Step 3: Invite a few friends over for a quick movie.
Step 4: Kick your friends out.
Step 5: Get changed for practice.
Step 6: Grab a snack and some water.
Step 6: Wait for your ride to pick you up.
Step 7: Turn on your ipod and get psyched.
Step 8: Practice hard.
Step 9: Come home and take a shower.
Step 10: Finish homework and go to sleep.

Sophomore John Bowman has been working at District since Freshman year and likes the laid-back environment and discounts he receives as an employee.

Seniors Jessica Miller and Frank Polizzi have been working at Tomatina for a year. Miller also works another job in order to afford her personal expenses.

Seniors Priscilla Chun and Haley Hayes work together to ring up a customer at Hawaiian Drive-In. Haley, being a relatively new employee to Hawaiian, has already learned the ropes needed for the job.

Sophomore Fiona Wong completes her community service hours by lending a hand at Girls Inc. Helping out without pay is a great way to give back to the community and many organizations. While some would rather work for the sheer pleasure of money, others help out the community in their own way and gain experience and happiness they will remember all their lives.

Seniors Linda Nguyen and Francesca Santos volunteer at Crab Cove cleanup in order to beautify our deteriorating beach. Many students helped cleaning the community and the environment thus making Alameda attractive. Nguyen stated, "It only took a few hours but the end result was worth the work."

Q: What is the perfect recipe for your dream job?

"When I grow up, I want to be an accountant."

-Jia Song
Junior

"I want to be a boss when I grow up. I want to own a supermarket"

-Kaman Loi
Freshman

Jobs:

"I wish there was a recipe for life," says Catherine Zeta Jones in the movie No Reservation. While most upperclassmen already have a recipe of their dream jobs in their cookbook of life, they have to get a day-to-day job in order to obtain the ingredients for their dream job. Many people start with a small minimum wage job, and gradually move onto jobs in the same field, while others move on to bigger jobs with better recipes, with a quart of money as a bonus. In order to climb the ladder of success, everyone needs the ingredients to make an ordinary cake while some turn it into a tiramisu. Many people get a job for the perks and not the experience. Receiving a special discount and a wage is very appealing at a favorite store, even though it will not help much in the future. What matters is the experience that a person would come away from the job with; it lasts a lifetime.

Recipe for a job:
Step one: Write a plan.
Step two: Put plan into action.
Step three: Search for potential jobs.
Step four: Apply to a regular job.
Step five: Take classes you need for your dream job.
Step six: Save up money for your abode.
Step seven: Get the experience you need for your dream job.
Step eight: Go for the job you have always wanted.

Q: A typical weekend is...

"A typical weekend for me is hanging out with some friends, eating food, sitting around on the couch and watching movies at my house. Anything that ends with having fun works for me."

-Jasmine Tomelden
Junior

"Unless I am at a basketball practice, I just like spending time with friends. On the off season, I like to play soccer and baseball too."

-Cameron Look

Breaks: While many people never journey far from Alameda, others are trotting the globe. Traveling to exotic places may be fun, but staying at home might have the same appeal to someone else. No matter where anyone is, they all have a teaspoon of family and friends, a cup of memories, and a quart full of fun in common with each other. Going to the beach or going to the Bahamas can both have their own perks that the other does not, but one thing they have in common is the experience. Another thing everyone loves about vacation is the time away from stress and school. Many people agree that breaks are much better when their minds are the furthest from upcoming tests and exams although there will be the occasional homework thrown in by some teachers. Overall, weekends liberate students from the everyday routine of school. Breaks give students a chance to catch up on school assignments they missed or maybe work on that term paper they keep putting off. Wherever you decide to go, the experiences will stay with you forever.

A recipe for a vacation:
Step one: Plan an event
Step two: Get the clothes for the event
Step three: Make sure you have food and nourishment for the event
Step four: Invite people to the event if necessary
Step four: Get dressed
Step five: Have fun and don't get in trouble

Recipe for: Famous Fijian sausage roll Submitted by: Courtney Chang '10

1lb. sirloin ground beef
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 box pillsbury pie crust
1/4 loaf french bread
1/2 green onion

Mix sirloin beef with salt, pepper and green onion. Soak French bread in water and drain water from bread. Mix bread into meat mixture. Cut pie crust dough into 1 1/2-2" slices. Put 1 1/2 tablespoon of meat mixture in each dough, roll up the dough covering up the meat mixture, then put them on a baking sheet and bake at 400 degrees for 45 min or when dough turns light brown.

Recipe for: Bindaeddeok Submitted by: Ju Young Hong '08

14 oz. nok doo (mung beans)
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
1/2 carrot, thinly julienned
3 green onion, cut on a bias
1/8 lb. beef, thinly julienned
1/1 cup kimchi, cut into strips
1/4 cup bean sprout, blanched and roughly chopped
2T. salt

Wash mung beans and soak in cold water for 3 hours. Get rid of outer shell by scrubbing them with hands. Wash again. Put them in a food processor with a little water and grind to fairly fine paste. In a bowl, mix onion, carrot, green onions, beef, bean sprouts and kimchi. Add mung bean paste and salt. In a non-stick pan, add vegetable oil, pour a ladle of paste to make 3-4 inches in diameter and cook until brown, turn only once. Serve with soy sauce.

Recipe for: Witches Brew Submitted by: The Alameda High Preschool

1 gallon cranberry juice
1 gallon apple cider or sparkling apple juice
12oz. Thawed orange juice concentrate

Pour the cranberry juice into a punch bowl. Add the apple cider(or sparkling apple juice). Stir in the orange juice, stir until all 3 ingredients are dissolved together. Drink with Halloween Spirit! This serves 1 class of 20 children, be creative and add other ingredients! A favorite treat for our Preschoolers!

Recipe for: Flaxseed Bread Submitted by: Isaac Wolf '10

1 package dry yeast
1/4 cup luke warm water
2 eggs
2 cups scalded milk
1/2 cup melted margarine
1 1/2 teaspoons of salt
1/2 cup sugar 4 cups white flour
2 cups flaxseed flour

Sprinkle yeast in large bowl. Stir until dissolved. Add eggs, milk, margarine, salt and sugar until blended. Stir in 2 cups white flour and two cups flaxseed flour. Beat until dough is smooth and elastic. Stir in the third cup of white flour to make a stiff dough. Sprinkle half of the fourth cup on a board. Knead dough 5-7 mins, using remainder of flour. Let rise 1.5-2 hours. Punch down dough, form it into a loaf, and let it rise again for 1 hour. Bake in hot oven for 10 mins at 425 degrees, then reduce heat until fully baked.

Main Dish

Recipe for: Chicken Rolls Submitted by: Ms. Sydow

8 oz. pkg cream cheese
4T. margarine
1/8 tsp. garlic pepper
8 oz. can water chestnuts
2 C. chicken or turkey
4 oz. can mushrooms
2 can crescent rolls

Mix together all ingredients. Unroll, pat flat crescent rolls. Fill with 2T. of filling and close, so all edges are sealed. Melt 3- 4 C. of butter. Dip each roll in butter then in seasoned bread crumbs. (3- 4 bread crumbs, 1- 2 tsp. poultry, 1- 4 tsp. garlic pepper). Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 15-20 mins. @ 375 degrees.
Top just before serving with 1C. chicken broth and 1 can cream of chick or mushroom soup, that has been brought to a simmer.

Recipe for: Green Death Submitted by: Ms.Winzenread

3C. cooked chicken
2C. sour cream
3C. grated Monterey Jack cheese
1 lrg. can tomatillos oz.
10 fresh tomatillos-cooked
1-2 onion
1 clove garlic
1 bunch cilantro
1 T. sugar
1 t. salt
1-2 jalapeno peppers
1-2 doz. corn tortillas

Make sauce- Combine tomatillos (drain liquid and save) onion, garlic, cilantro leaves (no stems), sugar, salt and peppers (remove seeds) in a food processor or blender- use some of reserved liquid if necessary to thin sauce.
Layer casserole dish- 9" by 12" in this order-
1 tortillas torn or cut in pieces, 2 chicken, 3 sauce, 4 cheese, 5 sour cream. Repeat 2 times ending with cheese on top. Bake (covered) 45 mins at 350 degree. Uncover and brown top lightly. Serve with salsa and additional sour cream.

Recipe for: Ratatouille Submitted by: Ms. Gutleben

32 oz. bottle of olive oil
2 eggplants(cut into 1, 2" cubes)
1 white onion, halved and sliced
5 tomatoes, cut into eighths
4 zucchini and 2 bell peppers sliced and cut into halves
3-4 cloves minced garlic
2- 3 whole bay leaves
1T. dried thyme(or 1T. fresh)
1T. herbs de Provence, sea salt and fresh cracked pepper
1 bunch fresh basil, chopped

Cover bottom of a large, heavy pot with 1, 3" olive oil over a medium heat. When hot, add onions, garlic and eggplant and saute until onions are translucent and eggplant completely soft. Add more olive oil if necessary to soften and moisten eggplant. Add tomatoes, zucchini, bell peppers, bay leaves, thyme, herbs de Provence and salt and pepper (to taste), and continue to cook on medium-low to low heat, stirring occasionally, for 1-1.5 hours, until vegetables are soft and melt in the mouth. Serve as a main course over farfalle pasta. Top with fresh, chopped basil.

Recipe for: No-Brainer Chutney Chicken Submitted by: Ms. Chacon

8-10 chicken things- skin on
1 jar major Grey's Chutney(any variety)
Salt and pepper to taste

Wash and dry chicken thighs, place 1-2 inches apart on a foil-lined cookie sheet or baking pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake for 30 minutes on 375 degree oven. Remove chicken and spoon 1 jar of Chutney over the tops of the chicken thighs. Place the chicken back in the oven for an additional 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot over rice.

Dessert

Recipe for: Strawberries and Creame Submitted by: Carmen Arroyo

1 cup diced of strawberries
1/4 cup sour cream
2T. sugar

Combine strawberries, sour cream and mix until strawberries are fully covered, then mix in sugar. Chill in refrigerator for 1 hour, serve and garnish with a piece of fresh mint.

Recipe for: Grandma's Cheesecake
Submitted by : Ms. Casper

Crust: 1 1/2 - 2 cups crushed crackers
4T. margarine -melted
Filling: 6 eggs-divided
1 bowl with whites, 1 with yolks
1 package cream cheese(1lb)
1 pint sour cream
1t. vanilla
3. 4 cup sugar
1t. lemon juice

Preheat oven to 310 degrees.
Crust-If graham crackers are in packages of 6-7 as are with Nabisco, smash them a bit-use 2 pkgs then put in a blender to pulverize. Pour into the bottom of the pan then pour melted margarine over. The mix and press into the bottom of the pan for crust

Filling-Beat egg white till peaks but not really stiff- leave aside for just a few minutes. Beat egg yolks on medium and add sugar, cream cheese, (cut one block into 4-5 chunks and throw in 1 at a time)sour cream, vanilla, lemon juice and rind. Beat till filling is smooth then fold in whites and mix gently. Pour cheesecake into pan then melt apricot jam and drizzle over butter; it will sink in places. Bake for 1 hr. and ten mins or until top is golden brown. Open oven a tiny bit and turn off. Let the cheesecake settle in the oven for an hour to help prevent cracking. Refrigerate and serve cold or room temp.

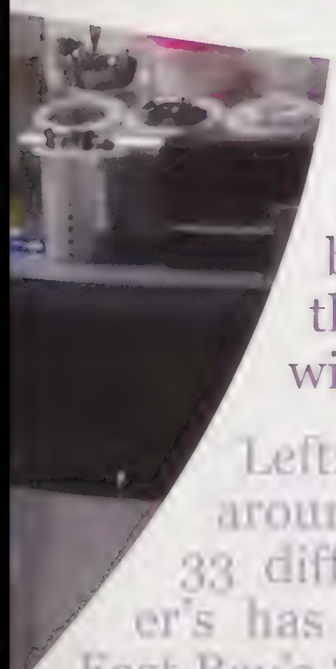
We are lucky to have a variety of businesses in Alameda. If we are craving a quick snack, feel like renting a video, or need a cute dress to party in, the perfect store is only a few blocks away. The choices we make define our personal styles, moods and backgrounds. Whether it's gelato, tapioca drinks or sprinkled cookies we're craving, all the desserts we can think of can be found in Alameda. Senior ads are full of memories that remind us of our (hopefully) sweet experiences throughout high school. The friends we share these memories with put the cherry on top of the sundae of Senior year. As the last section in our Alameda High cookbook, the advertisement section is the icing on top of a cake complete with whipped cream and fruit topping.



Left: Tucker's Ice Cream has been around since 1941 and serves more than 33 different flavors of ice cream. Tucker's has won many awards including the East Bay's "Best Ice Creamery" and is a favorite of many students at Alameda High School.

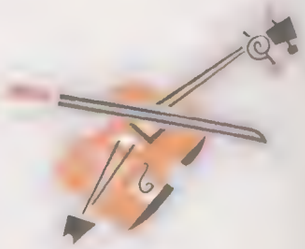
"A Daughter's Gift"

By Robert Sexton



When I imagine the life you will live,
I think of the pleasure your presence will give.
I see the joy your smile will light and the wonders you'll weave when your dreams take flight.
I feel the hope that will grow with your grace and the difference you'll make to each heart you embrace.
I imagine your life as I know it will be;
for my daughter,
you've given all this to me.

Love you much,

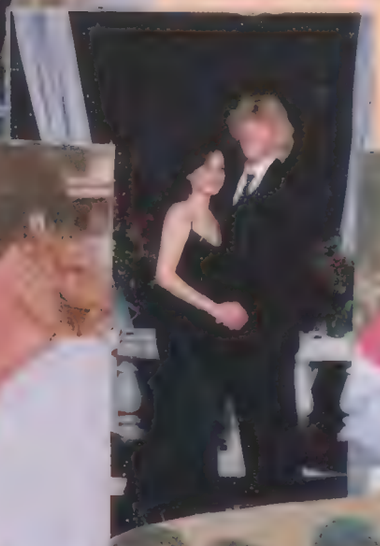
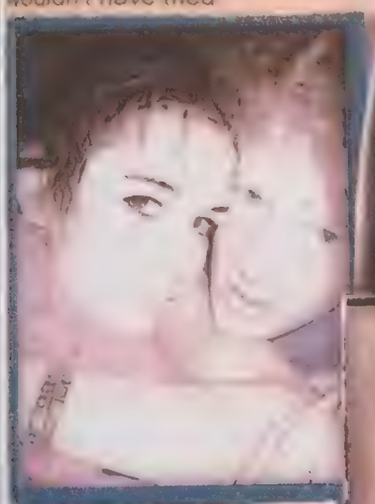
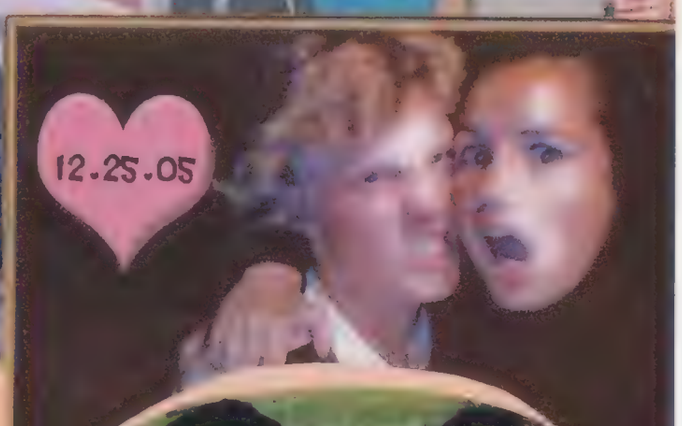
To those who have pushed me, thank you. Without you, I wouldn't have fallen. To those who have laughed at me, thank you. Without you, I wouldn't have cried. To those who just couldn't love me, thank you. Without you, I wouldn't have known real love. To those of you who hurt my feelings, thank you. Without you, I wouldn't have felt them. To those of you who left me lonely, thank you. Without you, I wouldn't have discovered myself. But, to those who thought I couldn't do it, it is to you I thank the most because without you, I wouldn't have tried.







Even though you are my little sister, I have learned so much from you.

Love, Sissy Shay & Danny

Another year of weird fun and hard work! Melissa was a great editor and photographer; she created a lovely book. We had to cut many pages from the book this year to keep costs under control and the staff did so much with a lot less. My darling Jesse, Will, and Haley -- I'll miss you! Staff -- you rock!!!

Melissa Lim
editor-in-chief

What a year! I am so proud of everyone for their hard work and beautiful designs. This book looks great! Will, Haley and Jesse- it has been a wonderful four years together (doorknobs, anyone...?) Precilla- I know you'll make an AMAZING book as the next editor-in-chief! I wish you all the best of luck. :)

THE RECIPE FOR A PERFECT PAGE:

1. Create the page design
2. Interview students
3. Click! Take pictures
4. Send to Indesign plan

Publication Specs: The Alameda High School Acorn, Volume 134, was printed at Jostens Publishing Plant. 1,000 copies were printed. Our trim size is 9 inches by 12 inches on GL80 #191 paper. Year in

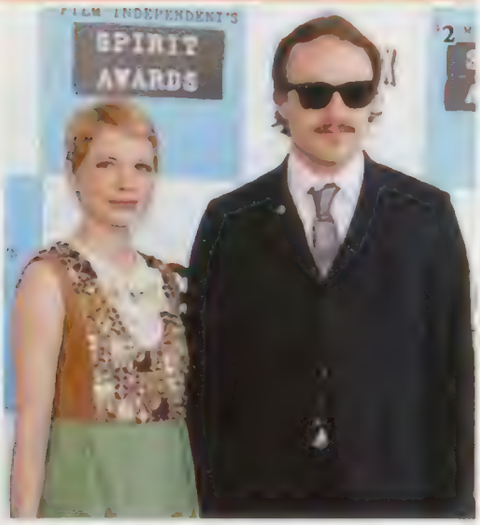
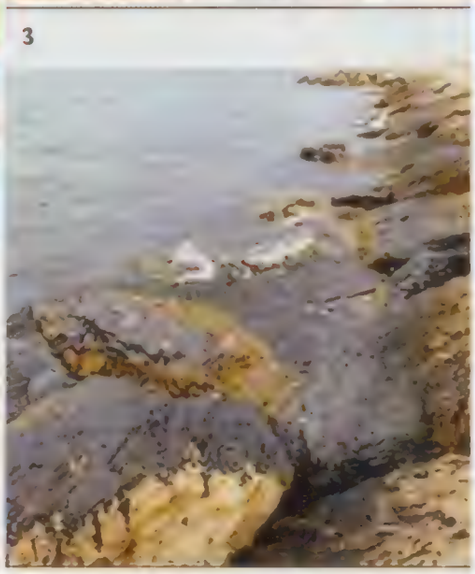
In the course of a year people's lives have progressed, towns

1. After the Holocaust, the world said "never again." Nonetheless, in this modern day and age genocide is occuring in Darfur, where ethnic hatred and differences between African and Arab cultures has lead to violence: the fighting in Darfur is racially motivated and men are being tortured, women raped, and 2.5 million people have been forced to flee their homes. Countries around the world have been protesting the Beijing Olympics as China is a major supplier of weapons to the Sudanese government, sending them $55 million worth of small arms. This has contributed to the genocide in Darfur.





2. On November 8, 2007, 58,000 gallons of oil spilled into the Bay after a container ship collided into the Bay Bridge. The spill left wildlife devestated, hitting seabirds the hardest. Beaches were covered with the black oil. To save the wildlife, an emergency clean up was declared. Tina Swanson a fish biologist said, "The effects of the oil spill could persist for months and possibly years."

3. On January 22, 2008, actor Heath Ledger of "Brokeback Mountain" was found dead in his Manhattan apartment. From an autopsy, doctors discovered he died from an unintentional drug overdose. Sadly, Ledger was only twenty-eight years old when he left behind a wife and a child.

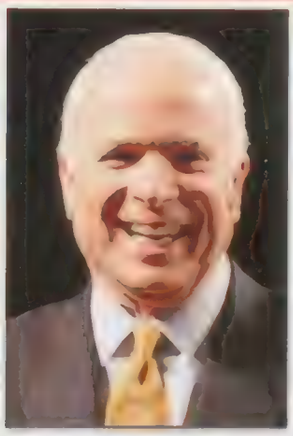
modernized, and the U.S. economy worsened.

Alameda is renovating its old classic style for a modern new look.Formerly known as South Shore Center, the mall has been renamed Towne Centre with a new upscale appearance. while in the heart of downtown Alameda, the theater is being restored to its original grandeur. Also, a parking lot is being built to help with the influx of people who are coming to enjoy Alameda's variety of new businesses. "I think that the new buildings in Towne Centre add sophistication to Alameda's shopping center. The changes bring Alameda to a new modern level," said Chris Tanner '09. One of the new additions to the Town Centre is Borders, along with the revamping of the entire shopping center.

March 5, 2008 hundreds of students from Encinal and Alameda High Schools joined as one to protest the $2.56 million in budget cuts which were approved the night before. This reduced the funding to sports and other important needs of children. The schools joined as one and together chanted and held signs. Some signs said "no sports, no school" and "no us, no future." After fifteen minutes of rallying outside, Superintendent Ardella Dailey peacefully led the students into Kofman auditorium to discuss the issues and importance of a parcel tax. The teens organized and represented themselves well and their voices were heard.



In 2008 Democrats have the historic opportunity to choose betweeen a woman, Hillary Clinton and an African-American man, Barack Obama for president. Never has either minority gotten this far in the primary elections, presenting this first-ever situation. Choosing the 2008 Democratic candiadate has been a long battle and at the time the book went to print, the Democratic nominee had not been chosen. On the Republican side, John McCain, a Caucasian man, secured his parties nomination by February 4th 2008.
